BALTIMORE:

NO. 170 MARKET STREET.

PREFACE.

THE twenty-second number of the METROPOLITAN CATHOLIC ALMANAC, and the fifth of the new series, is now presented to the public. Every effort was made by the publishers, to obtain full and accurate statements respecting the statistics of the church in the United States, a circular having been addressed to the Most Rev. and Rt. Rev. Bishops, and to the superiors of religious and collegiate establishments for that purpose, and they have the gratification to state that returns were received from all the diocesses with the exception of three. Information received too late for insertion in the proper place, has been published in the Corrections and Additions. Particular attention has been paid to the arrangement of the alphabetical list of the clergy. If errors have occurred in this department, they have not arisen from any omission of the proper care that is demanded by this important part of the Almanac. The reader will find in this number of the work, a statement of the various ecclesiastical arrangements that have taken place in consequence of the recent creation of new Episcopal Sees, and will perceive that a great accession has been made to the different departments of the church, which seem to advance from year to year in an increased ratio. A tabular statement has been prepared, to exhibit the progress of Catholicity in the United States, particularly during the last twenty years, and other tables are presented, to show the number of Ecclesiastical Seminaries and incorporated Colleges. It would be an interesting feature of the work, to furnish, in addition to this information, a full report of the Parochial Schools throughout the country, which would evidence the zeal, labor, and expenditure which the church bestows upon the subject of education: but the returns so far have been too imperfect, to serve as the materials of this interesting portion of Catholic statistics. We hope to exhibit this estimate in the next number. With regard to the Catholic population, we would request an attentive consideration of the remarks which are made on page 279. The unusual mortality exhibited in the Obituary, is the result of the epidemics that prevailed so long and so terribly in some of the Southern States. We learn from the Catholic Standard of San Francisco, received since the Almanac was put to press, that the archdiocess of San Francisco extends from the northern limit of California to the line which passes along the southern boundary of the parish of San Jose. That portion of California which is south of this line, constitutes the diocess of Monterey.

In conclusion, the publishers of the Almanac tender their acknowledgments to the Most Rev. and Rt. Rev. Bishops and to the Rev. Clergy, for their assistance in the compilation of the work, and the encouragement received from them to continue its publication; and they respectfully request their co-operation in the preparation of future numbers of the Almanac, that it may become a still more accurate exponent of the state of Catholicity in this vast and growing country.

CELESTIAL PHENOMENA.

ECLIPSES IN THE YEAR 1854.

This year there will be two Eclipses of the Sun, and two Eclipses of the Moon.

I. A partial Eclipse of the Moon, May 12, in the morning. Magnitude, 2.87 digits on the southern limb. Invisible on this continent.

II. An annular Eclipse of the Sun, Friday, May 26, in the afternoon. Visible principally as a very large partial Eclipse on the Sun's northern limb, throughout North America, except along the isthmus of Darien, as in the following table.

As a solar Eclipse of the magnitude of this rarely occurs, it may be interesting to give it a particular notice. During this Eclipse the apparent diameter of the Moon will be a little less than that of the Sun, and therefore the Sun cannot in any place be entirely or totally eclipsed. This circumstance also will cause a bright ring of light to be formed around the darkened parts of the Sun. This ring will be only about one-third of a digit wide, and will be visible only in the vicinity where the line of central eclipse passes. The eclipse is central in longitude 73° 53′ west of Greenwich, latitude 44° 14′ north; and in longitude 64° 35′ west, latitude 41° 10′ north. By finding these positions upon a map, and drawing a line from one to the other, the towns and countries through which the central eclipse passes will be readily discovered. The path of the annular eclipse will be about 100 miles wide, and extend about 50 miles each side of the line we have described.

The first time this eclipse ever occurred was in 1313, July 2d; since then, it has returned 31 times, including its return this year. It occurred in April 1800, in May 1818, and in May 1836. It will return again in June 1872. Its last return will be in the year 2593, August 17th. The next solar eclipse that will attract much attention in this country, will be in 1858, March 15th.

III. There will be a very small partial Eclipse of the Moon, Saturday, November 4, in the evening. Visible partly in the eastern section of the New England States. Greatest magnitude 0.64 of a digit.

IV. There will be a total Eclipse of the Sun on the 20th of November, invisible in North America.

RISING AND SETTING OF PLANETS AND STARS.

It should be observed that these are not sensibly affected by the longitude of a place. When the hour is less than 6, it is in the evening; when greater than 6, it is in the morning.

COMMANDMENTS.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.

1. "I am the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt not have strange gods before me. Thou shalt not make to thyself a graven thing, nor the likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or in the earth beneath, nor of those things that are in the waters under the earth. Thou shalt not adore them, nor serve them."
2. "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain."
3. "Remember that thou keep holy the Sabbath day."
4. "Honor thy father and thy mother."
5. "Thou shalt not kill."
6. "Thou shalt not commit adultery."
7. "Thou shalt not steal."
8. "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."
9. "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife."
10. "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's goods."

COMMANDMENTS OF THE CHURCH.

1. The Catholic church commands her children, on Sundays and holydays of obligation, to be present at the holy sacrifice of mass, to rest from servile works on those days, and to keep them holy.
2. She commands them to abstain from flesh on all days of fasting and abstinence; and on fast days to eat but one meal.
3. She commands them to confess their sins to their pastor at least once a year.
4. She commands them to receive the blessed sacrament at least once a year, and that at Easter, or during the paschal time.
5. To contribute to the support of their pastor.
6. Not to marry within the fourth degree of kindred, nor privately without witnesses; nor to solemnize marriage at certain prohibited times.

N. B. 1. The fourth council of Lateran, Can. 21, ordains that "every one of the faithful, of both sexes, after they come to the years of discretion, shall in private faithfully confess all their sins, at least once a year, to their own pastor; and take care to fulfil, to the best of their power, the penance enjoined them; receiving reverently, at least at Easter, the sacrament of the eucharist, unless perhaps by the counsel of their own pastor, for some reasonable cause, they judge proper to abstain from it for a time: otherwise let them be excluded out of the church whilst living; and when they die, be deprived of Christian burial."

2. The time for the performance of the Easter-duty, may be extended within the United States, from the first Sunday of Lent to Trinity Sunday, both inclusively.

3. The solemnizing of marriage, that is, the celebration of the rite during the mass pro sponso et sponsa, or with a display of festivity, is prohibited from the first Sunday of Advent till after Epiphany, and from the beginning of Lent till after Low Sunday.

FASTING DAYS.

Friday in Advent. Every day in Lent, Sundays excepted. The Ember Days (see below.) The Vigil of Whitsunday or Pentecost, of the Assumption, of All-Saints, and of Christmas.

N. B. 1. When a fasting day falls upon a Sunday, it is kept on the Saturday preceding that Sunday. To fast, consists in abstaining from flesh-meat, and eating but one full meal in the day, not before 12 o'clock, M. Besides this, a collation, or about the one-fourth of a meal, is allowed in the evening. All who have completed their 21st year are obliged to observe the fasts of the church, unless exempted for some legitimate cause.

2. In some of the western diocesses the Friday of the Ember days is the only Friday in Advent on which there is an obligation to fast.

3. It has been directed by the sacred Congregation de Propaganda Fide, that the feast of SS. Peter and Paul be solemnly celebrated in the United States, on the Sunday immediately after the 29th of June, and it is the wish of the Sacred Congregation that the Rt. Rev. Bishops exhort the faithful under their charge, to keep fast on the Saturday preceding that solemn celebration.

DAYS OF ABSTINENCE.

All Fridays and Saturdays, except those Saturdays which fall between the 25th of Dec. and the 2d of Feb., inclusively,* and all the Sundays in Lent. When Christmas falls on a Friday, abstinence is not of precept.

* Abstinence on Saturday has been dispensed with, for the faithful of the U. States, for the space of twenty years, from the year 1840, except when a fast falls on that day.

EMBER DAYS.

Spring—March	8, 10, 11.	Autumn—September	20, 22, 23.
Summer—June	7, 9, 10.	Winter—December	20, 22, 23.

The ember-days are the Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, which occur 1st, in winter, immediately after the 3d Sunday of Advent; 2d, in the spring, immediately after the 1st Sunday in Lent; 3d, in the summer, during Whitsun-week; 4th, in the autumn, immediately after the 10th of September. They are days of fasting and are of great antiquity in the church. The object of their observance is, to consecrate to God the four seasons of the year, by penance; to obtain his blessing on the fruits of the earth, and to beg of him worthy ministers of the church. The ordination of clergymen generally takes place, in Catholic countries, on the ember-days.

HOLYDAYS OF OBLIGATION.

The Circumcision of our Lord—The Epiphany—The Annunciation of the B. Virgin Mary—The Ascension of our Lord—Corpus Christi—The Assumption of the B. Virgin Mary—All Saints—Nativity of our Lord or Christmas.

N. B. 1. Sundays and the feasts which fall on them, are not included in this enumeration.

2. In some of the Western Diocesses the Circumcision, Epiphany, Annunciation, and Corpus Christi, are not holydays of obligation.

3. The sanctification of Sundays and other holydays of obligation consists, 1st, in abstaining from servile work, from all commerce and manual labor, which is not necessary for the worship of God and the support of life; 2d, in returning to God by penance, cleansing our conscience, receiving the Sacraments, and performing other duties of religion. Among these duties, that of assisting at the holy sacrifice of Mass is the principal, and is binding under pain of mortal sin, unless sickness or some other important reason dispense us from this obligation. Though a person may be said to obey to the letter the precept of the church, by hearing Mass, it is certainly a great abuse to restrict to this point only, the whole sanctification which the law of God prescribes. To be satisfied with assisting at low Mass, without performing any other act of religion, as many Christians do, is to go against the spirit of the Church in that particular commandment, to disobey other commandments she has imposed, and not to satisfy the commandments of God.

LITURGICAL INSTRUCTION.

Explanation of the Ornaments and Ceremonies used in the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

All the external rites used in the celebration of the holy mysteries are intended for the instruction of the faithful. The chief design of these rites is to commemorate and to represent the passion and death of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. This is plainly to be observed in the altar and its ornaments, as also in the vestments which are worn by the priest.

As to the color of the ornaments with which the priest celebrates the holy mysteries, the White is used on the festivals of our Lord, of the B. Virgin Mary, and of all the saints who are not martyrs.

The Red is used on Pentecost, on the finding and Exaltation of the Cross, and on the Feasts of the Apostles and Martyrs.

The Purple or Violet, which is the penitential color, is used on all the Sundays and Ferias of Advent, and during the whole of the penitential time from Septuagesima Sunday till Easter; as also on all Vigils, Ember Days, and Rogation Days, when the office is of them.

The Green is used on all Sundays and Ferias from Trinity Sunday to Advent exclusively, and from the octave of the Epiphany to Septuagesima Sunday exclusively, when the office is of the Sunday; but in the Paschal time the White is used.

The Black is used on Good Friday, and in Masses of Requiem for the dead; which may be said on any day that is not a Sunday or a double, except from Palm Sunday to Low Sunday, and during the Octaves of Christmas, of the Epiphany, of Pentecost, and of Corpus Christi.

EXPLANATION OF THE CALENDAR.

Ap signifies Apostle—App Apostles—M Martyr—MM Martyrs—P Pope—B Bishop—C Confessor—D Doctor—Ab Abbot—V Virgin—Wid Widow—SS Saints—D M Days of the Month—D W Days of the Week—† marks the days of indulgence—hym. ch. means the change in the hymn Iste Confessor.

The prayers and portions of the Holy Scriptures of which the Mass is composed, are in part the same, and partly different every day. Those fixed are contained in the Ordinary of the Mass, at the beginning of the Missal. The parts changeable or proper are—the Introits, Collects, Gradual, Tracts, Epistles, Gospel, Offertories, Secrets, Communion, and Post-communions—form the subsequent contents of the book. As the Prefaces are not so frequently subject to change, they follow each other in regular succession in the Ordinary of the Mass.

If a double fall on a Sunday, then the Mass of the double is said instead of that of the Sunday, unless it be a privileged Sunday, such as the first Sunday of Advent or Lent, Passion, Palm, Easter, Pentecost, and Trinity Sundays, which are never superseded. The Sundays of the second class, which cannot be superseded except by doubles of the first class, are the second, third, and fourth of Advent, Septuagesima, Sexagesima, and Quinquagesima; as also the second, third, and fourth of Lent. It must, however, be remarked that the gospels of Sundays thus superseded by doubles are never omitted, but are recited at the end of the mass, instead of St. John's gospel; and also that a commemoration of the Sunday, by its proper collect, secret, and post-communion, is always made immediately after the collect, &c., of the festival.

As it sometimes happens that a double is transferred to some future vacant day, on account of the octave of some festival of higher rank intervening, then the difficulty of finding out the day on which such transferred festival is celebrated, as well as the other principal difficulties regarding the service, may be easily removed by consulting the following DIRECTORY, as a guide to the morning as well as the evening service of the church:

1. The office of every day is either double, semi-double, simple, or of the feria.

Of doubles (so called because the anthems are repeated entire, both before and after the psalms at Vespers) some are of the first class, marked thus in the calendar: doub. 1st cl.; others of the second class, and are marked thus: doub. 2d cl.; others are greater doubles, marked gr. doub.; others common doubles, marked doub., or d.

2. Doubles are kept on the day marked in the calendar, unless they fall on some Sunday of the first or second class, some privileged feria, or with certain octaves which take the place of the festivals; in which case they are transferred to the first day not marked either as a double or a semi-double.

Doub. 1st cl. denotes a great solemnity; doub. 2d cl. a lesser solemnity; greater double marks the feast to be of higher rite than a common double; double is the common and most general rank of saints; semi-double is less than a double; simple shows the feast to be of the lowest rite; fer., or feria day, is a week day having no feast; great fer. are weeks in Lent, Advent, &c.; Vig. vigil, is the eve of a great solemnity.

The Sundays of the 1st class which take place of all doubles are—

The first Sunday of Advent, first Sunday of Lent, Passion, Palm, Easter, Low, Whit and Trinity Sundays.

The Sundays of the second class which take place, also, of all doubles except those of the first class, and of which, in that case, a commemoration is made at mass and in both vespers, are the second, third, and fourth of Advent; septuagesima, sexagesima, and quinquagesima, the second, third, and fourth of Lent.

The ferias, which enjoy the same privileges as Sundays of the first class, are Ash-Wednesday, All Holy Week, Whitsun Eve, the whole octaves of Easter and Whitsuntide.

In like manner within the octave of Epiphany, no feast less than a first class can be kept.

On all other Sundays of the year, if a double occur, it is kept with a commemoration of the Sunday at Mass, and at Vespers also, except the following day be a feast of the first class.

3. A semi-double (so called because only a part of the anthem is said before each psalm at vespers) is marked in the calendar thus, semid., and occurring on any Sunday whatsoever, is put off to the first vacant day; that is, the first day on which there is neither double nor semi-double marked in the calendar. The same is to be observed of all semi-doubles occurring within the octave of Corpus Christi.

4. Simples have no mark in the calendar, and are never transferred; but if they fall on Sunday, oron any other day when the office cannot be said of them, a commemoration is made of the first vespers, and at mass; unless it be a feast of the first class, (on which no notice is taken of simples,) or of the second class, in which case a commemoration of them is made in the Lauds, and at a low private mass only.

5. The following ferias, called greater ferias, take place of all simples of which there is only a commemoration made at mass, viz: the ferias of Advent and of Lent, the Ember Days, and Tuesdays in Rogation Week. A commemoration is also made of the ferias of Advent, Lent, at vespers and mass, whatever feast happens; but of the Ember Days and Tuesday in Rogation Week, only at mass.

6. If a vigil happen within the octave, then the vigil, with a commemoration of the octave, unless there be a double or a semi-double feast that day, in which case the mass is of the feast, with a commemoration of the octave and of the vigil. But if a vigil occur on a feast of the first class, there is no commemoration made of it.

If a festival that has a vigil, fall on a Monday, the mass of the vigil is said on the foregoing Saturday, except the vigil of Christmas and of the Epiphany.

If a vigil happen in Advent, the mass is of the vigil, with a commemoration of the feria, except the vigil of Christmas.

If a vigil happen in Lent, or on an ember day, the mass is of the feria, with a commemoration of the vigil.

In the paschal time there is no office of vigil, except that of Ascension Eve, which, however, is no fast.

7. When several festivals have been translated from their proper days, they are afterwards to be kept in this order: first, those that are doubles, and then those that are semi-doubles; and among the doubles or semidoubles, those whose proper days first occurred are to be kept first.

8. Coll. or Collect, signifies the oration or prayer. Upon all doubles one collect, secret or post-communion, only, is said ; except they fall on a Sunday, or within the same octave, or upon some vigil, or in the time of Lent or Advent, or except it occurs with some simple ; in all such cases, two collects, &c., are said ; one of the double, the other of the Sunday, octave, &c.

Upon Sundays, and all semidoubles, are said three collects, secrets or post-communions ; excepting Sundays which occur within an octave, on which are said two collects, &c., one of the Sunday, the other of the octave.

The second and third collects, secrets, and post-communions, to be said on Sundays and semidoubles in the different seasons of the year, are specified in their proper places.

Upon semidoubles occurring within octaves, or on vigils, &c., the second collect, secret, and post-communion, are a commemoration of the octave or vigil ; and the third of the B. V. M., but within the octaves of the Blessed Virgin, the third is of the Holy Ghost.

On semidoubles in Advent, the second collect, secret, and post-communion, are the collect, &c., of the foregoing Sunday ; the third of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Upon simples and ferias three collects, &c., are said ; but if the priest please he may say five or seven, to be taken out of the divers prayers in the common.

9. When the bishop of a diocess appoints a collect to be said at mass, it is to be placed after the collects of the day, and cannot be substituted for the collect which is marked ad lib. This prayer prescribed by the bishop, is said at all masses, except that of the first class, and convertual and high mass of second class ; at low mass of 2 cl. it may be said or omitted. It is omitted also on Christmas eve, vigil of Pentecost, Palm Sunday, Holy Thursday, and Holy Saturday.

10. Upon week days which have no proper office, nor any saint's day occurring thereon, the mass is of the foregoing Sundays.

11. Upon days within octaves, when no proper mass is assigned, the mass is said as on the feast, with three collects, &c. N. B.—The days within octaves are kept as semidoubles only.

12. The collect of the B. V. M., within octaves on vigils and on semidoubles within paschal time, is found in the votive mass of the Blessed Virgin Mary, from Advent to Christmas the collect of the B. V. M. is read in the mass of first Sunday of Advent, from Christmas to Candlemas the collect of the Blessed Virgin, as in the mass of the Circumcision.

13. The collects for Church and Pope are seen in the mass of the first Sunday of Advent, one of them is only recited at the choice of the priest, generally they are said in turn, when mentioned in the Directory. The collect of the Pope is said on the anniversary days of his creation and coronation ; the creation here signifies his election to the sovereign Pontificate.

14. On the anniversary day of the consecration of the bishop, the collect for his installation is said at mass by the clergy of the diocess. If the bishop be translated from another diocess, the collect is said on the anniversary of his translation, that is, the date of the pope's letter of translation. The collect of the bishop is the same as that of the pope, except that the names of the prelate and of the diocess are mentioned.

15. The words ad lib. signify that one is at liberty to recite any of the occasional collects or prayers, found towards the end of the missal.

16. The gospels assigned on Sundays are never omitted. Wherefore if a double be kept on a Sunday, at the end of mass is read the gospel of the Sunday, instead of that of St. John; and the same is observed when a double or semidouble is kept on any day in Lent, or on a vigil or ember-day.

17. The Gloria in excelsis is said at Mass, whenever the Te Deum has been said after Matins; except at Mass on Holy Thursday and Holy Saturday, when the Gloria is said though the Te Deum is omitted in the office. The Gloria is omitted in Masses for the dead, in votive Masses, even during the Paschal time or an octave, except in the Mass de B. Maria in Sabbato, or de Angelis, or when the votive Mass is said for an important object or some public affair of the Church, and without the purple vestments.

18. Low Masses votive or of requiem for the dead, cannot be celebrated on Sunday or on a double feast. They are also prohibited from the vigil of Christmas to the octave-day of the Epiphany inclusively, and on Ash-Wednesday; also, from Palm-Sunday to Low-Sunday inclusively; moreover, from the vigil of Pentecost to Trinity Sunday included, and during the octave of Corpus Christi.

19. High Masses of requiem for the dead, where the body is not present, are forbidden on double feasts; but where the body is present and unburied, they may be celebrated on Sundays (provided the parochial Mass be not omitted) and on doubles, even of the first class, which are not festivals of obligation. But these Masses, even when the body is present, are prohibited on the Nativity, Epiphany, and Ascension of our Lord, Easter-day, Pentecost, Corpus Christi, Assumption of the B. V. Mary, All-Saints, and the three days before Easter; also, on the feast of the principal patron, that of the titular saint, and such festivals as are celebrated with much solemnity.

20. The offices of the Sacred Passion, which are marked for the different Fridays of Lent, are ad libitum: that is, they may be recited by those who wish, but there is no obligation to do so. The same is to be said of the office of the M. Blessed Sacrament on Thursdays, and that of the Conception of the B. V. Mary on Saturday, during the year. But if any one of these offices be omitted, the office occurring on the day according to the rubrics, should be recited.

21. In the office of the B. V. Mary and during the octave, the hymns conclude with the strophe, Jesu tibi sit gloria, Qui natus es, &c.; and in the Respons. at Prime, is said Qui natus es, &c., unless otherwise marked. Also, from the first vespers of Christmas to the first vespers of Epiphany, on the feast of the Holy Name of Jesus, and during the octave of Corpus Christi. The same is observed in the office of the Blessed Sacrament on Thursdays, and that of the B. V. Mary on Saturdays, from Complin of the preceding day, (if even a commemoration of these offices be made) until None inclusively.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICE

Charles Nerinckx was born on the 2nd of October, 1761, at Herffelingen in Haynault. His parents were distinguished for their virtues and their strong attachment to religion. His father was a physician of some eminence in the profession; and his mother seems to have been a woman of great piety. The tender mind of Charles was imbued with a deep and abiding religious feeling. At an early age, he was placed in the elementary school of Ninove, where he commenced his studies. At the age of thirteen, he was removed to the College of Geel, in the province of Kempen; whence he was afterwards sent to the University of Louvain, where he entered on the study of philosophy. His parents determined to spare no expense which might be necessary to give him a thorough education; and they were highly gratified to find that Charles corresponded so well with their parental solicitude, and that he more than fulfilled their highest expectations.

Having completed his academic course, and duly consulted God in prayer, the young Charles resolved to study for the church. Accordingly, in the year 1781, he was sent by his parents to the Seminary of Malines, where he entered on the study of Theology. Here he was still more remarkable for tender and solid piety, than he was for the rapid advancement he made in his studies. Though he far outstripped his companions, yet he did not permit himself to be elated with his success. He referred all his actions to God, to whom he was united by a habitual spirit of prayer. He concealed his success, even from his own eyes, under the garb of a deep internal humility; and from those of his companions, under the veil of an unaffected modesty. He feared the praises of men more than others usually seek them.

His studies completed, he was ordained priest in 1785: and in the following year was appointed cure, or pastor of Malines, the Archiepiscopal city. He filled this important post for eight years, and gathered there the abundant first-fruits of his ministry. The good people of Malines yet remember his piety and laborious zeal, the effects of which they still feel. The rectory of Everbery Meerbeke, half way between Malines and Brussels, having become vacant by the death of the aged incumbent, M. Nerinckx was appointed to fill it by the general suffrage of a board of examiners, who, after the searching examination, or concursus, recommended by the Holy Council of Trent, for such cases, unanimously awarded him the palm over all other candidates. Though loath to leave Malines, where the people were much attached to him, yet he hesitated not to enter upon the new field of labor thus opened to him by Providence.

The extensive parish of Everbery Meerbeke was in a neglected and deplorable condition. The parish church was in a dilapidated state, and the people had been much neglected, in consequence of the age and infirmities of his predecessor in the pastoral office. M. Nerinckx immediately set about remedying all these evils ; he repaired the church, and was assiduous in his efforts to revive piety among his new parishioners. Believing that the hearts of the parents could be most effectually reached through their children, he spared no pains to instruct the latter, and to rear them up in the most tender sentiments of piety. He gave them catechetical instructions on every Sunday evening after Vespers. To do this the more successfully, he divided the parish into sections, and distributed the children into regular classes ; which he taught himself, or through pious catechists whom he had selected ; and he had the names of all the children of his parish carefully registered. He soon won the hearts of the children, and was able easily to obtain their regular attendance at catechism. He frequently inculcated on them a tender devotion to the Holy Virgin, and taught them to sing canticles, which he had composed in her honor.

The effects of this discipline were soon discernible. The children were prepared for their first communion, and soon became models of piety for the whole parish. The hearts of the parents were touched ; and the most neglectful or obdurate among them, were gradually brought to a sense of duty. Piety was seen to flourish in a parish, before distinguished only for its coldness and negligence. Numerous pious confraternities in honor of the Blessed Virgin were established, as well as associations for visiting the sick, and for other charitable objects. Thus, by the zeal of one man, aided by the Divine blessing, a total reformation was effected in a short time ; and the parish of Everbery Meerbeke became a model for all others.

M. Nerinckx, though kind and polite to all, was rather austere in his manners, as well as rigid in his discipline. He was, however, always much more rigid with himself than with others. He never lost a moment, nor allowed himself any recreation. He paid no idle visits for mere pastime : he visited the different families of his parish only on duty, and generally on Sunday evenings. He knew well that a priest who does his duty has little time to spare for idle conversation. Wherever good was to be done, or a soul to be saved, there was he found, by day or by night, in rain or in sunshine, in winter or in summer. When not actually engaged in the ministry, he was always found at home, employed in prayer or in study. He was an enemy of promiscuous dances, and he succeeded in abolishing them throughout his parish.

It was natural that a man of so much zeal, and one who had done so much good, should be viewed with an evil eye by the infidel leaders of the French revolutionary movement, who had recently taken possession of Belgium. An order for his apprehension was accordingly issued ; and M. Nerinckx was compelled to fly from his dear parish, which he left a prey to the devouring wolves. In 1797 he secreted himself in the hospital at Terremonde, which was under the charge of twelve or fifteen hospitalier nuns, of whom his aunt was superioress. Here he remained for seven years, during all of which time he carried his life in his hands. He acted as chaplain to the hospital, the former incumbent having been banished to the Isle of Rhe. He bore his persecutions with entire resignation to the holy will of God, and edified all by the practice of every virtue. He encouraged the good nuns to persevere in their heavenly calling of mercy. He said Mass for them every morning at 2 o'clock, and then retired to his hiding place before the dawn.

In this retreat he had full leisure to apply to study, and he lost not a moment of his precious time. He wrote Treatises on Theology, on Church History, and on Canon Law ; and his manuscripts would have filled eight or ten printed octavo volumes. These he was often afterwards solicited to publish ; but his modesty took the alarm, and he was inflexible in his refusal. In the hospital were shut up many of the prisoners who had been made in the revolutionary battles fought in Belgium. Some of these were horribly maimed. M. Nerinckx did all he could, in his dangerous situation, to assuage their sufferings and to impart to them spiritual succor. At the dead hour of night, he often stole to their cells, at imminent hazzard of his life, and administered to them the holy Sacraments : and when they were hurried to execution, he viewed them from his hiding place and imparted to them the last absolution.* Often, too, he visited by stealth his dear parish of Everbery Meerbeke, administering the Sacraments to his people, consoling them in their sufferings, and strengthening them in the hour of danger.

Beset with dangers, and uncertain as to the duration of the dreadful storm which was then sweeping over Europe, M. Nerinckx at length determined to bid adieu to his unhappy country, and to emigrate to the United States. Here "the harvest was great, and the laborers few ;" and no impediment was placed in the way of a free exercise of religion, according to each one's conscientious convictions. He accordingly made his escape, in a vessel which sailed from Amsterdam to the United States, on the 14th of August, 1804.

He had a long and dangerous passage of ninety days. The old and ricketty vessel was often in imminent danger of foundering at sea ; and to add to the distress, a contagious disorder carried off many of the passengers and crew. Still they were not chastened under the rod of affliction ; the heart of M. Nerinckx often bled over their wickedness, which he was wholly unable to check ; and he afterwards was in the habit of styling this ill-fated ship, "a floating hell." The Captain, in particular, was a very profane and wicked man. M. Nerinckx was wont to ascribe his preservation from shipwreck, to a special interposition of Divine Providence.

He reached Baltimore about the middle of November, and immediately offered his services to the Patriarch of the American church—Bishop Carroll,—for whatever mission in the United States he might think proper to assign him. Bishop Carroll received the good exile with open arms, and immediately sent him to Georgetown to prepare himself for the American mission, by learning English, with which, as yet, he was wholly unacquainted. M. Nerinckx was then in his 45th year ; and yet he applied himself with so much ardor to the study of the English language, as to be able in a few months to speak and write it with considerable facility.

Bishop Carroll was well aware of the forlorn condition of M. Badin, who was alone in Kentucky ; and he determined to send the new missionary to his assistance. And had he sent us no other, Kentucky would still have ample reason to be forever grateful to him for the invaluable treasure he sent in M. Nerinckx.

*One of these poor prisoners, while going to execution, was observed to hold in one hand—the maimed stump of the other, which had been cut off by the Jacobins!

The good missionary hesitated not a moment to comply with the wish of his new superior. What cared he for the dangers, privations, and labors which he foresaw he would have to endure on the arduous mission to which he was hastening? Had he not been already trained to this severe discipline of the cross; and had he come to America to rest on a bed of down, and to dally with luxuries? From an early period of his life, labors and sufferings had been his daily bread; and now he was too much accustomed to them any longer to feel any apprehension on their account. He was, on the contrary, rejoiced to enter on a mission which no one else wished, or was indeed willing to accept.

He left Baltimore in the spring of 1805; and, after a long and painful journey, reached Kentucky on the 5th of July following. He immediately applied himself zealously to the labors of the mission, which he cheerfully shared with M. Badin, the Vicar General. For the first seven years he resided with M. Badin, at St. Stephen's; afterwards, he took up his residence chiefly near the church of St. Charles, which he had erected on Hardin's Creek, and named after his patron Saint. But he was seldom at home: he lived on his scattered missions, and passed much of his time on horseback.

His labors in the arduous field upon which he had now entered were as great as their fruit was abundant. With his whole soul, he devoted himself to the work of the ministry. He even seemed to court labors and sufferings for their own sake. Of a powerful frame, and of herculean constitution, he never spared himself. His rest was brief, and his food was generally of the coarsest kind. He generally arose several hours before day, which hours he devoted to prayer and study. In fact, he seemed to be always engaged in mental prayer, no matter how numerous or distracting were his employments.

He appeared to live solely for God, and for his neighbor. Performing his duty was his daily bread. And though old age was fast creeping over him, yet he relaxed in nothing his exhausting labors. His soul was still fresh and vigorous; and God so preserved his health, that, even at the age of sixty, he seemed gifted with all the strength and vigor of youth.

He seldom missed offering up the Holy Sacrifice daily, no matter what had been his previous fatigues or indisposition. Often was he known to ride twenty-five or thirty miles fasting, in order to be able to say Mass. His missionary labors would be almost incredible, were they not still so well remembered by almost all the older Catholics of Kentucky.

His courage was unequalled: he feared no difficulties, and was appalled by no dangers. Through rain and storms; through snows and ice; over roads rendered almost impassable by the mud; over streams swollen by the rains, or frozen by the cold; by day and by night, in winter and in summer; he might be seen traversing all parts of Kentucky in the discharge of his laborious duties. Far from shunning, he seemed even to seek after hardships and dangers.

He crossed wilderness districts, swam rivers, slept in the woods among the wild beasts; and while undergoing all this, he was in the habit of fasting, and of voluntarily mortifying himself in many other ways.* His courage and vigor seemed to increase with the labors and privations he had to endure. As his courage, so neither did his cheerfulness, ever abandon him. He seldom laughed, or even smiled; but there was withal an air of contentment and cheerfulness about him which greatly qualified the natural austerity of his countenance and manners. He could, like the great Apostle, make himself "all to all, to gain all to Christ." He appeared even more at home in the cabin of the humblest citizen, or in the hut of the poor negro, than in the more pretending mansions of the wealthy.

He was averse to giving trouble to others, especially to the poor. Often, when he arrived at a house in the night, he attended to his own horse, and took a brief repose in the stable, or in some out-house; and when the inmates of the house arose next morning, they frequently perceived him already up, and saying his office, or making his meditation.† He made it an invariable rule never to miss an appointment whenever it was at all possible to keep it. He often arrived at a distant station early in the morning, after having rode during all the previous night. On these occasions, he heard confessions, taught catechism, gave instructions, and said Mass for the people generally after noon; and he seldom broke his fast until three or four o'clock in the evening.

In swimming rivers, he was often exposed to great danger. Once, in going to visit a sick person, he came to a stream which his companion knew to be impassable. M. Nerinckx took the saddle of his friend—who refused to venture—placed it on his own, and then remounting the horse, placed himself on his knees on the top of the two saddles, and thus crossed the flood which flowed over his horse's back. On another occasion, he made a still more narrow escape. He was swept from his horse, which lost its footing and was carried away by the current; and the rider barely saved himself, and reached the other shore, by clinging firmly to the horse's tail.

On one of his missionary tours, he narrowly escaped being devoured by the wolves, which then greatly infested those portions of Kentucky which were not densely settled. While travelling to visit a distant station, in what is now Grayson county, but what was then almost an unreclaimed wilderness, he lost his way in the night. It was the dead of winter, and the darkness was so great, that he could not hope to extricate himself from his painful situation. Meantime, while he was seeking a sheltered place, where he could take some repose, the famished wolves scented him, and came in hundreds, fiercely howling around him. With great presence of mind, he immediately remounted his horse, knowing that they would scarcely attack him while on horseback. He hallooed at the top of his voice, and temporarily frightened them off; but soon they returned to the charge, and kept him at bay during the whole night. Once or twice they seemed on the point of seizing his horse, and M. Nerinckx made the sign of the cross and prepared himself for death: but a mysterious Providence watched over him; and he escaped after sitting his horse the whole night. With the dawn, the wolves disappeared.

*Sometimes when he was asked by those at whose house he had arrived in the morning—"where he had slept on the previous night?"—he would answer cheerfully: "with Captain Dogwood"—the name of a tree abounding in the woods of Kentucky.

†This often occurred, especially at the station on Clear creek, Hardin county.

As we have said, he was a man of powerful frame and herculean strength. A proof of this will be presented in the following singular adventure, which is well known to all the older Catholics of Kentucky.

He was in the habit of rigidly enforcing order in the church, during the celebration of the divine mysteries. Protestants, and persons of no religion, often attended church, led thither chiefly by curiosity. These sometimes did not conform to the rules of propriety : and M. Nerinckx, who was little swayed by human respect, was not slow to admonish them of their faults in this particular. As he was not very well versed in the English language, and was by nature rather plain and frank, his admonitions were not always well understood, or well received. Once, especially, a man by the name of Hardin—a youth of powerful frame and strength, and somewhat of a bully—took great offence at something which M. Nerinckx had said, and which it seems he had entirely misunderstood. He openly declared that he would be avenged on the priest, the first time that he would meet him alone.

An opportunity soon occurred. M. Nerinckx was going to the church of St. Charles, from St. Stephen's, when Hardin waylaid him on the road. Springing from his hiding place, he seized the bridle reins of M. Nerinckx's horse, and bid him stop, "for that he intended to give him a sound drubbing." At the same time, he cut one of the stirrup leathers, and ordered the rider to dismount ; an order which was promptly complied with. M. Nerinckx remonstrated with him ; told him that he had meant in nowise to offend or injure him ; and that his profession wholly forbade him to wrangle or fight. Hardin, however, persisted, and was in the act of striking the priest, when the latter took hold of him, and quietly laid him on the ground, as though he had been the merest child ; observing to him, meantime, with a smile, "that he would neither strike or injure him, but that he felt authorized to see that himself received no injury at his hands." In this position he held him motionless on his back, until he had obtained from him a promise, that no farther attempt should be made on his person.

After this rencounter, M. Nerinckx quietly remounted his horse, and proceeded on his journey ; Hardin as quietly moving off in the other direction. On arriving at the church, one of his friends asked M. Nerinckx, "how it had happened that his stirrup leather had been cut?"—He replied, by simply stating the adventure in few words ; and observing, with a smile, "that these young buckskins could not handle a Dutchman!" After this he never was heard to speak of the affair ; but Hardin was wont to say to his friends, "he had often thought before, that he had handled men ; but that he really never had hold of one, before he met priest Nerinckx, who, he verily believed, had something supernatural about him."

M. Nerinckx often manifested his great bodily strength in the course of his laborious life. He erected no less than ten churches in Kentucky; two of which—those of Holy Cross and of Lebanon—were of brick ; and the rest of hewed logs. He was not content with directing the labors of others : he was seen intermixing with the workmen, aiding them in cutting timber, in clearing out the undergrowth, and in every other species of hard labor. He generally worked bareheaded under the broiling sun : and, in removing heavy timber, or as it is commonly called, rolling logs, he usually lifted against two or three men of ordinary strength! He built his own house, chiefly with his own hands; and was wont to say cheerfully, "that his palace had cost him just $6.50 in money!"

He had charge of six large congregations, besides a much greater number of stations, scattered over the whole extent of Kentucky. Wherever he could learn that there were a few Catholic settlers, there he established a station, or erected a church. The labor which he thus voluntarily took on himself, is almost incredible. To visit all his churches and stations generally required the space of at least six weeks.

He never took any rest or recreation. He seemed always most happy, when most busily engaged. He seldom talked, except on business, or on God, on virtue, or on his missionary duties. On reaching a church or station, his confessional was usually thronged by penitents, from the early dawn until mid-day. Before beginning to hear confessions, he usually said some prayers with the people, and then gave them a solid and familiar instruction on the manner of approaching the holy tribunal. If he seemed austere out of the confessional, he was in it a most kind, patient, and tender father. He spared no time nor pains to instruct his penitents, all of whom, without one exception, were deeply attached to him. To his instructions chiefly in the confessional, are we to ascribe the piety and regularity of many among the living Catholics in Kentucky.

But it was on the children and servants that he lavished his labor with the greatest relish. Thoroughly to instruct them, and prepare them for their first communion, was his darling employment. He thought no time nor labor, that was devoted to this favorite object of his heart, too long or ill-spent. For this purpose, he usually remained a week at each of the churches and stations. During this time, he had the children and servants daily assembled, and devoted his whole time to them. He thus renewed in Kentucky the edifying scenes which had been witnessed in his former parish of Everbery Meerbeke, in Belgium. The children were much attached to him; and he possessed a peculiar tact in winning their hearts, and stimulating them to learn their catechism, and to be virtuous. He distributed them in regular classes, and awarded premiums to the most deserving. Thus he laid, broad and deep, the foundations of Catholic piety in Kentucky.

In Kentucky, also, as in Belgium, he sought to inculcate a tender devotion to the Blessed Virgin. The first church which he erected he dedicated to God under her invocation, and called it Holy Mary's after her. His churches were generally built in the form of a cross: the two arms of which, with one half of the body, were occupied respectively by the men and women, who were always kept separate.

After Mass, he was in the habit of practising a devotion, as beautiful as it was touching and impressive. He went to the centre of the church, where, surrounded by the little children, who so dearly loved him, he knelt down, and, with his arms extended in the form of a cross,—the children raising also their little arms in the same manner—he recited prayers in honor of the five blessed wounds of our Divine Saviour. The parents often joined the children in this moving devotion. After this, he led his little congregation, composed chiefly of children, into the adjoining graveyard, where he caused them to visit and pray over the graves of their deceased relatives and friends.

God blessed his labors with fruits so abundant and permanent, as to console him for all his toils and privations. He witnessed a flourishing church growing up around him, in what had recently been a wilderness, inhabited only by fierce wild beasts and untameable savages. He saw, in the virtues of his scattered flock, a revival of those which had rendered so illustrious the Christians of the first ages of the church. M. Badin had laid the foundation; and, like a skilful architect, he reared the superstructure, in that portion of the flock entrusted to his charge. The results of his labors prove how much one good man, with the blessing of God, can achieve by his single efforts, prompted by the lofty motive of the Divine glory, and directed with simplicity of heart to one noble end.

Yet, though learned and of solid judgment, he was not remarkable for brilliancy of talent, for engaging address, or for pulpit eloquence. His discourses were plain, matter of fact, instructions, delivered in broken English, and with little rhetorical ornament. He was, on the whole, rather a tiresome and disagreeable speaker; yet was he listened to with great attention, and his words sunk deeply into the hearts of his hearers.

Though he had something austere in his manner; and though he was a foreigner and spoke English very imperfectly, yet is it remarkable that he made, perhaps, more converts among Protestants, than any other missionary who ever labored in Kentucky, if we except M. Badin. So true is it, that conversion is not ordinarily effected by human eloquence alone, or by any other mere human means, but by the grace and blessing of God, crowning with success the labors of the missionary. M. Nerinckx seldom made a missionary tour without receiving some one into the bosom of the Holy Catholic Church. In one of these excursions, he made no fewer than thirteen converts. And those whom he received into the church were well grounded in the faith, and generally proved steadfast.

The transcendent merit of M. Nerinckx did not escape the eye of Bishop Carroll. Besides having charge of the whole territory of the United States, this venerable patriarch of the American church was also administrator of the Diocess of New Orleans, which had been for many years without a Bishop. On the division of his vast charge into five different Diocesses, and the erection of his own See into an archbishopric, he recommended to the Holy See the Rev. M. Nerinckx, as a suitable person to take charge of the vacant Diocess of New Orleans, in the character of administrator. The Sovereign Pontiff acceded to his request, and despatched a brief to that effect. The appointment of M. Nerinckx to this situation was intended as the forerunner of his consecration as Bishop of New Orleans.

The good missionary was with M. Badin when he learned the news of his appointment. He meekly bowed his head, and observed to his friend, beginning with the words of the Psalmist: "Bonitatem et disciplinam et scientiam docendus, docere non valeo"—"Having myself to be taught goodness, and discipline, and knowledge, I am not able to teach these things to others." He mildly, but firmly refused the proffered honor. Desirous of retaining him in Kentucky, where his labors were so fruitful, M. Badin, in conjunction with the Dominican Fathers of St. Rose, petitioned the Holy See, that he might not be compelled to accept an office, which would tear him from a field of labor in which he had already proved so eminently useful. They also represented, that the great delicacy of conscience characteristic of M. Nerinckx, would render him exceedingly unhappy in so arduous a situation, if it would not wholly unfit him for its responsible duties.

The Pontiff yielded to the entreaties of M. Nerinckx, thus supported by the suffrage of his brethren in the ministry; and he did not insist on his accepting the appointment.

Nothing could exceed the devotion of M. Nerinckx to the Holy Sacrament of our altars; in this respect, he was a model for every clergyman. In his churches, you saw only plainness except about the altar; but his devotion led him to aim at magnificence in this place, especially as regarded the tabernacle, which was to contain the Holy of Holies. Every thing connected with the Holy Mysteries called forth the exercise of this devotion. Never did he permit a day to pass without celebrating Mass, unless grievously ill, or engaged in a long journey; and a rule of his monasteries is, to keep up, even during the night, the perpetual adoration, by a succession of two sisters to two sisters, before the Holy Sacrament, to pay their homage to the God who loved us so dearly, as, after having suffered death for us, to give us, under the sacramental veils, His flesh to eat: and to repair, in some degree, the disrespect, with which this Sacrament is treated by the ingratitude of the human race.

This good man had also great filial piety to Mary, the Mother of Jesus, and he desired to excite this affection for the Mother of our Saviour in all those with whom he had any intercourse. He admired her spirit of patient love and resignation in sufferings, especially when she beheld her dearly beloved—her Creator and her Son—upon that Cross, at the foot of which she was weeping. Often did the pious ejaculation, which he was in the habit of teaching others, escape from his own lips: "Oh! suffering Jesus! Oh! sorrowful Mary!" In all the churches which he attended, he established the Society of the Holy Rosary, and the Confraternity and Sisterhood of the Scapular; and almost all the Catholics of his congregations, are still enrolled in one or more of those pious societies.

Nothing could be more edifying than his piety towards the dead. It is quite impossible to pass by any of the numerous cemeteries which he has laid out, without feeling deep sentiments of religion, and having a sweet sensation of deep melancholy blended with the hope of the Christain. In the midst of each abode of the dead is reared the glorious emblem of the Christian's faith, a large cross, surrounded by a balustrade, for the convenience of the pious friends who come to pray for their departed brethren. At the head of each grave, you also find the emblematic cross, inscribed with the dates of the birth, death, and the name of the brother or sister, whose bones are there laid up in the hope of the resurrection. He never permitted a week to pass without offering up the Mass for the repose of the departed.

His love for retirement was such, that he never paid a visit of mere ceremony. Indeed, he never visited, except when the good of his neighbor or the duty of his ministry made it obligatory on him to do so. His watchings, even during his longest and most painful journeys, were very long, and were always spent either in study or in prayer. Prayer appeared to be his greatest, and only solace, in the midst of his continual labors.

Among the establishments made by M. Nerinckx, that of the Sisters of Loretto, or of "the Friends of Mary at the foot of the Cross," is the principal; and has proved of the greatest benefit to the Diocess of Kentucky. His objects in founding this invaluable Sisterhood were: to enable pious females to aspire to the lofty perfection of the religious state, and to promote, through their means, the Christian education of youth of their own sex, especially of those whose parents were needy and too destitute to defray the expenses attending the education of their offspring.

In the course of his long missionary career, M. Nerinckx discovered many young females who sought to practice a more perfect virtue than was compatible with the distractions of the world. They had caught no little of his own spirit of prayer, of disengagement from the world, and of lofty enthusiasm in the path of Christian perfection. He observed, too, many young girls who were raised in ignorance, and greatly exposed to temptation. He devised an admirable means of promoting the spiritual welfare of both these classes of females, in the establishment of the new Sisterhood of Loretto—which name he gave them out of reverence for the famous shrine of the Virgin, at Loretto in Italy.*

The foundation of the new society was laid on the 25th of April, 1812;—nearly a year after the arrival of Bishop Flaget in Kentucky. The mother establishment was called Loretto, and was erected on Hardin's Creek, near the church of St. Charles. The houses were built of wood, and were very poorly furnished. They were erected on one side of an oblong inclosure, in the centre of which was reared a large wooden cross. The chapel of the Sisters occupied a central position in the buildings which stood on either side.

The number of those who attached themselves to the new institute increased every year. Soon the buildings were too small for the number of applicants; and the pious founder was under the necessity of erecting new houses, and of creating branch establishments of the society. In twelve years from its commencement, the number of Sisters exceeded a hundred; and they had already under their charge six different schools for girls.

The assiduous attention to the religious instruction of girls, constituted, in fact, the principal utility of the pious society. It is difficult to estimate how much it has, by this means, contributed towards fostering and sustaining piety in this Diocess. Within the first ten years of its existence, the Sisterhood had already prepared for their first communion eight hundred young ladies. These afterwards became mothers of families, and were able to instruct others; and thus the good was perpetuated from generation to generation.

M. Nerinckx watched over the new institution with the tender solicitude of a parent. He devoted to the spiritual instruction of the Sisters and of their scholars, all the time he could spare from the heavier duties of his missionary life. He endeavored to infuse into them his own spirit of prayer and mortification. He labored assiduously, both by word and example, to disengage them entirely from the world, and to train them to the practice of a sublime Christian perfection. He ardently sought to keep alive in their hearts the true spirit of the religious vocation; to make them despise the world, trample on its vanities, and devote themselves wholly to the service of God and of the neighbor, by a faithful compliance with the duties growing out of the three simple vows, of poverty, chastity, and obedience, they had taken.

Especially did he endeavor to impress upon them the obligation of placing implicit reliance on the good providence of God, not only in their spiritual, but also in all their temporal concerns. A favorite maxim which he had always in his heart, and frequently on his lips, was embodied in this golden saying: "do not abandon Providence; and He will never abandon you." How would that good heavenly Father, who "clothes the lilies of the field, and feeds the birds of the air," abandon those who had put all their trust in Him, and had devoted themselves entirely, both in body and soul, to His service?

In fact, this unbounded confidence in the providence of God, was almost the only legacy he was able to bequeath to the Lorettines. They had, in the commencement of their society, but little of this world's goods to depend upon. It was not difficult for them to practice the poverty which they had vowed: they were already extremely poor and destitute; and in fulfilling their vow, they had but to love and submit cheerfully to that which was a stern necessity of their condition. Their houses were poor and badly furnished; their clothing was of the plainest kind; and their food was of the coarsest.

M. Nerinckx himself set them the example of the poverty and mortification which their institute required them to love, as well as to practice. According to the testimony of his Bishop, "he himself led an extremely austere and mortified life; his dress, his lodgings, his food, was poor; and he had filled his monasteries with this holy spirit. Those women sought for poverty in every thing; in their monasteries, in the plain simplicity of their chapels. The neatness, the cleanliness, the simplicity of their dwellings, and of their chapels, excited the wonder of their visiters."

To keep up the constant practice and spirit of prayer in their houses, M. Nerinckx inculcated, besides regular and devout attendance at all the pious exercises of the community, distributed throughout the day, the utility of raising their hearts to God by a pious aspiration or ejaculation, whenever they would hear the clock strike, or would pass from one occupation to another.

Especially did he enjoin upon them a tender devotion to the Blessed Virgin, weeping at the foot of the cross, and a frequent repetition of the pious ejaculation: "Oh! suffering Jesus! Oh! sorrowful Mary!" To feed and keep alive the spirit of piety, he recommended to them frequent visits to the Holy Sacrament of the altar; and we have already seen the provision which he made to keep up the perpetual adoration of Jesus Christ in this, the greatest mystery of His undying love for mankind.

To foster the spirit of humility and mortification, he recommended manual labor, and the love of being employed in the most menial offices of the house. To encourage them to practice these employments with cheerfulness and love, he pointed to the lowly life, and the voluntary hardships and privations of the Blessed Saviour ; and to the great utility of such mortifications, for the atonement of sin, and the laying up of abundant merits in heaven.

This austerity was apparent in the body of rules which he drew up for the guidance of the society. They breathed the purest spirit of Christian perfection ; but experience subsequently demonstrated, that some of them were too rigid for health, and ill-suited to the nature of the climate. Of this character were, the great exposure of the Sisters to every inconvenience of weather, while laboring hard in the fields, or forests, and the practice of going barefoot during a great portion of the year. As we have said, the poverty of the society at its commencement compelled hard labor ; the other practice was adopted, with many others of a similar nature, to cherish a constant spirit of mortification. But these more rigid regulations were retrenched from the rule on its subsequent revision while its substance and spirit were fully retained.

The heart of the good founder was consoled by the early piety and fervor of the Sisterhood. These appeared to enter into the entire spirit of their state, and to correspond, to the full, with his instructions. According to the testimony of the good Bishop Flaget, "they were the edification of all who knew them: and their singular piety, and their penitential lives reminded one of all that we have read of the ancient monasteries of Palestine and of Thebais."

The good founder had been induced to send a colony of the Lorettines to Missouri ; and he had already received gratifying accounts of the success which had there crowned their labors. Though almost exhausted with his missionary toils, and worn down by old age, he yet determined to pay a visit to this distant branch of the society, in order to encourage the Sisters in the path of usefulness on which they had entered.

Another principal motive of his journey to Missouri, was an ardent desire for the conversion and civilization of the Indians, who were there very numerous at that time. He had formed a plan to induce the heads of families and the chiefs of the savage tribes to send their children to the schools of the society, where they might be taught the English language, the elements of learning, and especially the catechism. This he conceived to be the best means of reclaiming the Indian tribes ; and, in fact, it was but a carrying out of a favorite system which he had found so eminently successful, both in Europe and in America—that of reaching the parents through the piety of their children.

This was the last journey that the good missionary ever performed. He died in the midst of it, on the 12th of August, 1824, at the house of the Rev. M. Dahman, parish priest of St. Genevieve. He breathed his last, while closely engaged in the labors of his mission, and while panting for new means of promoting the glory of God and the salvation of souls. His death was worthy of his life. Calm, patient, collected, and resigned to the will of heaven ; praying to the last, and longing to be freed from the prison of the body, and to be with Christ, the good priest bade farewell to this world, with a confident assurance of a blessed immortality in the next.

LITERARY INSTITUTIONS FOR YOUNG MEN.

GEORGETOWN COLLEGE, D. C.

Some changes were lately effected in the internal arrangement of the College, by which a larger number of boarders can be accommodated, and a separation has been lately made of the very young students from the seniors. The necessity and advantages of such an arrangement must be evident to every person who has the least experience in the education of youth. Distinct dormitories, play-ground and study hall, have been assigned to the younger boys, and persons appointed to superintend their studies, who will give them such attention as their tender age requires.

The course of Philosophy will be in future extended to two years for such as may wish to pursue the study of Ethics, together with the fundamental principles of civil, political, and international law. The higher branches of Mathematics and Natural Philosophy, will also be continued, together with practical instruction in Astronomy in the College Observatory, thus affording the lover of this delightful science advantages not to be found in many institutions in the country.

MOUNT ST. MARY'S COLLEGE,

Near Emmitsburg, Md.

The Annual Session of studies at Mount St. Mary's College commences on the 24th of August and ends on the last Wednesday of June.

The students are always under the watchful care and government of their Professors and Tutors, and form but one family with them. All are carefully instructed in the doctrines and trained to the practice of the Catholic Religion.

The studies are divided into two departments: the Preparatory, lasting from two to three years; and the Collegiate, requiring four years. Students entering the College must bring satisfactory testimonials: they are admitted to those classes, which they are found capable, on examination, of attending with advantage. The Annual Examinations take place during the month of June; the Commencement is held on the last Wednesday of June: on that day Premiums are distributed publicly and Degrees conferred.

Expenses.—Board and Tuition, including the entire classic and scientific course, also French, Doctor's salary, washing and mending, use of bed and bedding, for the first six months, $100, to be paid in advance—afterwards $90 for each half year, always payable in advance.

Music and drawing are extra charges, each $40 per annum, for those who wish to learn them. The German and Spanish Languages, each $20 per annum.

Medicines are furnished at the Apothecary's prices, and generally add but little to the expenses.

Parents or Guardians, if they prefer it, can pay the sum of $325, which will be received in full for all the branches of education taught in the College, (except German, Spanish, Music and Drawing,) for boarding, clothing and other necessary expenses. Postage and pocket money excepted.

Every student must be supplied, on entering, with four summer suits, if he enter in the spring; and three winter suits, if he enter in the fall. He must also have at least six shirts, six pairs of stockings, six pocket handkerchiefs, six towels and three pairs of shoes or boots. The students will be provided with clothing by the Institution, if such should be the wish of their parents. It is, however, preferred that they should be furnished from home, when this is practicable.

No uniform is required or worn; but simplicity and economy are recommended to parents and observed at College.

Bills of expenditure are sent at the close of every half year to the parents, and at the same time is issued a draft at five days' sight. Parents or Guardians residing out of the country or at too great a distance, must appoint a representative at some convenient place, responsible for the regular payment of the expenses, and bound to receive the student, should it become necessary to dismiss him.

Should a student leave the College before the expiration of a quarter, no deduction is made for the remainder of that quarter, except in cases of sickness or dismissal; nor is any made for the vacation, during which parents have the option of leaving their children at the College, or taking them home. When parents wish their children to spend the vacation at home, they must give previous notice, and forward their travelling expenses.

Seminary of St. John the Baptist.—The exercises of the Seminary are temporarily suspended, and the students have been placed in other seminaries. Two are studying in Rome, two in France, and one in Baltimore.

ST. MARY'S COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,
Columbia, S. C.

This Institution, undertaken with the sanction of the Rt. Rev. Bishop and already favorably known to the public, is situated in the most healthy town in the Southern States; affording every inducement for the promotion of studious habits, and the enjoyment of healthful exercise. It offers to young men all the advantages of a thorough education, and cherishes their faith and morals with unremitting solicitude. The public patronage having called for additional space—the study-rooms and dormitories have been enlarged, and accessions have been made to the Mathematical and Scientific Departments, which greatly facilitate these studies.

A mild and paternal system of government is observed, as far as may be compatible with the strictest attention to established discipline: the diet of the students is wholesome and abundant: the strictest attention is paid to their well-being in every respect; and their teachers are not only the directors of their studies, but also the companions of their recreations. There are at present over one hundred pupils in the institution. The improvements just completed afford ample accommodations for as many more. The collegiate year consists of two sessions, of five months each,—the first commencing in September, and the second in February, and closing with a public examination and exhibition.

The educational course is strictly collegiate—the same which is pursued in the leading institutions of the country: the various departments are filled by able and competent Professors. Students will be received at all times, and no extra charge made for remaining in the institution during vacations. Each student, on entering, will be examined and placed in the classes for which his previous attainments qualify him. Young men who may have a vocation for the holy ministry, and who are competent to teach, will be received for their services, and ample opportunity afforded them of prosecuting their studies.

DOMINICAN CONVENT OF ST. ROSE,

Near Springfield, Washington co., Ky.

This institution was established in 1806, by the Rev. Edward Fenwick, afterwards the first Bishop of Cincinnati, in company with three English Dominicans. These apostolic men, first compelled to flee from the land of their nativity by the ruthless continued persecution of the reformation in England, founded a splendid and flourishing college at Bornheim, in Belgium. Afterwards, being driven from this peaceful abode by the revolutionary soldiers of France, they petitioned their General for leave, and obtained it, of going to America. Having arrived here in the spring of the above mentioned year, they established themselves on a delightful and fruitful farm two miles from Springfield.

Attached to the convent there is a new church now nearly completed. It is built of blue limestone, beautifully chisseled, in the gothic style of architecture. It is one hundred feet in length, fifty-eight in width, with a Sanctuary of forty-four feet for the community.

The Convent, in which the Provincial generally resides, has the following Fathers of the Order in Kentucky attached to it, who attend several missions and stations from St. Rose's :

Very Rev. Matthew A. O'Brien, O. S. D., Provincial.
Rev. Joseph T. Ryan, O. S. D., Prior.

There are at present in the novitiate of the convent 6 students professed, of whom 4 will commence their philosophy, and 2 their theology this fall ; 4 in their strict novitiate ; 2 postulants ; and 10 lay-brothers.

Regulations respecting Postulants and Novices to be received in future into the Convent of St. Rose.

No boy will be admitted under the age of fourteen. Boys over eighteen and under twenty-one will not be received, unless they know the classics, or have a liberal English education, with capacity, on examination, to learn the classics. No young man will be admitted after his twenty first year, unless he has completed his humanities, with a liberal English education.

Young boys, unacquainted with the classics, will be required to study three months at the convent previous to their being admitted among the postulants and novices, and that for a trial of their talents and capacities. At the end of that period, they will be admitted, if found fit and deserving, as postulants; when $75 annually will be required of each, for board and tuition, together with their providing themselves with books, clothing, and doctor's fees.

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE,

Near Lebanon, Marion county, Kentucky.

This Literary Institution, founded in 1821, by the late Rev. William Byrne, and subsequently conducted for many years by the Jesuits, is now under the superintendance of the Right Rev. Bishop of Louisville, who will always take means to provide a suitable Faculty for carrying it on with a view to promote the greatest good. Under the auspices of its previous conductors, the Institution has been instrumental in widely diffusing the blessings of a religious education throughout Kentucky and the adjoining States. The steadiness of its patronage has been a constant evidence of the public approval. The beauty and salubrity of the situation, as well as the spaciousness and commodiousness of the college buildings, are generally known. It will be the constant aim of the Faculty to adopt, as far as may be practicable, the plan upon which it was so well and so usefully conducted by its enlightened and benevolent founder.

As the college, under its present organization, is designed for the education of Catholic children, a regular and thorough course of religious instruction will be given; so that Catholic parents may have every confidence that the religious and moral training of their children will be strictly attended to. Such being the object of the Institution, none other than Catholic patronage is solicited; and no new students will be henceforth received, unless they be either the children of Catholic parents, or boys under twelve years of age, whose parents will consent that they be raised in the Catholic religion.

The course of instruction will embrace principally all the branches of an English and Commercial education, to which may be also added, when required, the languages and the higher mathematics. The terms are made as moderate as possible, in order to extend to the greatest number the advantages of a Christian education. For this reason, however, punctuality in payment will be strictly insisted on, as otherwise it is obvious that the Institution could not be sustained.

The scholastic year will be divided into two sessions; the first commencing on the first Monday in September, and ending on the last day of January; and the second session commencing on the first day of February, and closing with an examination and the celebration of the fourth of July.

Terms per Session, invariably in advance.

SOCIETY OF THE HOLY CROSS,

At Notre-Dame-du-Lac, St. Joseph's county.

The "Association of the Holy Cross," whose Mother-House is in Mans, France, founded an establishment in 1843, at Notre-Dame-du-Lac, where it possesses on an extensive farm, a university, a novitiate for the Priests, and for the Brothers, and a manual labor school, in which orphan boys are taught by the Brothers, the most useful trades of the country, together with a good common English education.

This institution consists of three distinct branches, having the same end, nearly the same rules, the same vows of obedience, chastity and poverty, the same interests, and the same government, viz:

1st. The "Priests of the Holy Cross," consecrated to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. Their constitutions are similar to those of St. Ignatius of Loyola; they devote themselves to missions, and to education, in which they are assisted by the Brothers: 14 professed and 6 novices.

2d. The Brothers—similar to the Christian Brothers—are consecrated to the Most Holy Heart of St. Joseph, and chiefly instituted to teach the poor and the destitute ; they take charge of orphan asylums, and teach useful trades ; they also discharge the manual offices connected with a college and a farm. The most suitable age for admission is from fifteen to thirty-five, and the qualifications are chiefly, a blameless character, a sound constitution, a true piety, pure morals, a firm and conciliating temper, and a great desire of personal sanctification in the line of obedience. When the Brothers are sent out they must be two at least, and they receive a salary of $100 per annum, unless they take the school on their own account. Their novitiate is of one year, and they cannot make their perpetual vows before they are 25 years of age. Number of professed, 25 ; novices, 12 ; postulants, 9 ; number of boys in the manual labor school, 30.

3d. The "Sisters of the Holy Cross," consecrated to the most Immaculate Heart of Mary, like the Sisters of Charity, are devoted to the education of youth, to the service of orphan asylums and hospitals; they also discharge, for the colleges of the institute, the various functions of infirmarians, sacristans, &c. Their Novitiate is at Bertrand, Berrien co., Michigan, five miles from Notre-Dame. They have also there an academy and a female orphan asylum, nearly on the same plan as that of the Brothers. Number of professed sisters, 23 ; novices, 12 ; postulants, 18. To be admitted either into the male or female orphan asylum, children must be at least 12 years old, and they are bound to remain until they are 21 years of age. They must pay $40 as security, and this sum is returned in clothes at the expiration of their time. The success of these two establishments sufficiently justifies what has already been frequently said of them, "Blessed are the youths thus sheltered from the dangers of the world; but thrice blessed those whose devotedness procures them these favors."

The following branches are dependent on the house at Notre-Dame-du-Lac, viz :

Holy Angel's Academy, Mishawake, Ind., recently opened for young ladies. Terms, $100 per annum. Sister Mary of St. Francis, Directress.

St. John's School, Cincinnati. 400 children. Br. Bernard, Director.

The number of students during the last session, was 140. Extensive additions have been made to the college, capable of affording accommodation to 300.

The Female Academy of Mishawake, about four miles from the college, is a beautiful and healthy location. Situated on the line of the Northern Indiana railroad, it is easy of access from all parts of the Union, and offers advantages not inferior to any sister academy in the west.

Lefevre, Bishop Administrator of the Diocess of Detroit, is situated in the most beautiful and healthy part of the city, on the opposite side of the Catholic church.

This institute combines every advantage that can be derived in a literary institute for young ladies in America. Having been engaged for many years past in the instruction of youth, these ladies have constantly justified the confidence of parents who entrusted their children to their care.

The plan of education, together with the benefit of christian instruction, unites every advantage that can be derived from a punctual and conscientious care bestowed on the pupils in every branch of science suitable to their sex; and from the uninterrupted attention which is given to form the manners and principles of the young ladies, and to train them up in the habits of order, neatness and industry. The diet is good, wholesome and abundant: spacious grounds afford the pupils the facility of pleasant walks and useful bodily exercises. Their health is the object of constant solicitude. In sickness they are affectionately attended to, and never are they left a moment beyond the reach of inspection. The number of sisters in the house is 12, three of whom are novices. Usual number of boarders from 15 to 20, but this number is doubly increased during the three summer months, when children are received to prepare for first communion and confirmation. Among the boarders there are ordinarily from 6 to 10 orphans, without any distinction being made. Average number of day-scholars, in both French and English schools, 140.

Terms for Boarders.—Board and tuition, including washing, per session, quarterly in advance.....$80 00

For more advanced scholars—Natural philosophy, botany, &c., music and use of the instrument, per quarter..... 10 00

No extra charge for French.

The day-school is supported by liberal contributions. For further information apply to the Superioress of the institute. Sister M. Theresa, Superior.

The teachers are appointed by the Redemptorist Fathers, who have the schools under their fostering care.

There is also a free school attached to St. Michael's (German) church. The average number of scholars in attendance is between eighty and ninety. The teacher is appointed by the Rev. P. Kronenberg, who is pastor of St. Michael's church.

Anse, Most Holy Name of Jesus.—Rev. A. Vanpaemel, who also attends Point Keweenaw, Outonagan District, and the mining localities. The Indians belonging to this mission are continually advancing in civilization, good religious conduct and industrious habits. They live peaceable and contented, and enjoy already, in this world, the reward of their sobriety and christian-like mode of living. Their families increase and enjoy good health. It is remarkable how healthy these Indians are now. The circumstance deserves to be noticed, that since the ninth day of June, 1849, to the 15th day of August, 1850, (over fourteen months) not a single soul, either man, woman, or child, departed this life. There is much hope of a considerable increase of this mission.

INSTITUTIONS.

The Diocess having been but just erected, and being still without a Bishop, no Catholic establishments have as yet been formed in the Southern portion of the State. There is, however, an ample field and fine prospect for several literary and charitable institutions, which will no doubt spring up in various parts.

Four Sisters of St. Joseph, a branch of the Mother-house at Carondelet, Mo., have resumed the female school at Cahokia; four other Sisters, to form a Mother-house for German schools, are daily expected, being on the way from Tilburg, in the Netherlands, with a priest who accompanies them.

Flourishing male and female schools are attached to the churches of St. Lawrence and St. Boniface in Quincy; and several other, chiefly German, schools are in operation throughout the new diocess.

Davenport, Scott co., St. Anthony—Very Rev. Anth. Pelamourgues. The church stands in the centre of the town on a whole block, the half of which was purchased by Rt. Rev. Bishop Loras, and the other half generously given by Mr. Anth. Leclair. The new church is partly built, and promises to be a very fine stone building. Rev. G. W. Plathe has under his especial care the Germans, who intend to build a church for themselves in the town.

Muscatine, formerly Bloomington, on the Mississippi shore, Muscatine county, St. Mathias'—Rev. Ph. Laurent. Service in English and German. The town is growing rapidly, the number of Catholics increases in good proportion, and the lot where the church stands is on Main street, and very conspicuous. Eight miles below this is St. Malachy's settlement, with a Catholic school. There is another station at Port Louisa, near Columbus.

Iowa City, Johnson co., St. Mary's—Rev. F. McCormick. The bishop of the Diocess has bought 80 acres of timber land for a grave yard and other religious purposes.

Old Man's Creek, Thompson co., St. Michael's—attended on fourth Sunday of the month, from Iowa city.

Burlington, Desmoine co., St. Paul's—Rev. Geo. Reffé. Sermon in German and in English. A ten acre lot convenient to the town was bought by the Bishop of the Diocess for a grave yard, which is fenced in, and commands a fine view of the Mississippi. The Germans, who are numerous in Burlington, are about to build a church for themselves.

Dodgeville, Desmoine co., St. Matthew's—a settlement entirely Irish—attended from Burlington.

Augusta, St. Louis—attended from Burlington.

West Point, Lee co., St. Philip's—Rev. Mathias Michel. The congregation consists almost entirely of Germans. The Sisters of St. Joseph are expected next fall to open a school both for boarding and day-scholars.

Council Bluff, on the Missouri, Patowatomie co., St. Francis Xavier—visited by Rev. T. N. Mullen. This will become a large city: all the Mormons have left the country. The land is surveyed and offered for sale, at $1.25 an acre. The Rt. Rev. Bishop has bought a quarter of a section of land, two lots in the town, where a brick church is soon to be built. It is probable that several railroads will pass through Council Bluff.

Mount St. Bernard, four miles from Dubuque, on the two roads to St. Louis and Iowa city, is a very eligible location for a college and theological seminary. Some buildings are already erected there. The semtnarians and brothers spend their vacations there. Divine service at 9 A. M., on Wednesdays and on Sundays. Rev. A. Trevis presides over the seminarians, the young students, and the Catholics of the vicinity. Rev. ——— Fougas is Professor of Philosophy and Procurator of the Seminary.

New Paradise Grove, near Mt. St. Bernard. This property, bought by the Brothers of Christian Instruction, consists of 251 acres, mostly in timber. See below.

INSTITUTIONS.

CISTERCIAN MONASTERY OF OUR BLESSED LADY OF LA TRAPPE,

New Melleray, near Dubuque, Iowa.

This community is a filiation from the Mt. Melleray Abbey, county Waterford, Ireland.

In the early spring of 1849, two members of the above Monastery, Very Rev. Clement Smyth, Prior, and Br. Ambrose Byrnes, landed at New York, and after much toil and useless efforts to find a place suited to the establishment of a new Cistercian Monastery, they directed their footsteps to the "Far West." Kindly received, and generously assisted by the Rt. Rev. M. Loras, Bishop of Dubuque, they secured for their new establishment, in his diocess, about 1,600 acres of land, the most rich and fertile, and which required nothing but the skilful hand of industry to render it productive of all that could be considered necessary to supply the wants of Cistercian Trappists.

After the lapse of four years, by their OWN PERSEVERING LABORS, singularly blessed by a most benign Providence, they have extricated themselves from pecuniary embarrassments, and have already bright prospects, in the early future, of acquiring an independence, honorable to industry, honorable to religion.

Not content with laboring assiduously for their own sanctification, they also extend the sphere of their active services to the neighboring people. Four years ago their secular congregation numbered ffve or six Catholics, and since that time the Catholic population has so much increased that this community had to build, at their own expense, a church sixty feet in length, which is now too small to contain the many who there assemble on Sundays and holydays, to pay the homage of prayer and praise to their Creator and their God. Three of their priests attend at an early hour every Sunday morning to hear confessions, &c. At present the number of communicants EVERY SUNDAY, ranges from thirty to seventy. These good Fathers have already received five converts to our holy faith, and the great crowd of anxious listeners who attend their church on Sundays, to hear the sacred truths of religion set forth in a clear and dignified manner, promises well for the future.

They have also established a school for the gratuitous education of the children of every religious denomination, where piety and literature mutually conspire to enlighten the mind and to refine the manners, and where youth are trained up to virtue both by word and example.

There are at present in this community forty-three members, 12 of whom, including seven priests, belong to the choir, twenty-six professed lay-brothers, and five novices.

Very Rev. Clement Smyth, Prior.
" James M. O'Gorman, Sub-Prior.
" Bernard McCaffery, Master of Novices.
" Palladius Cosgrove.
" Francis Walsh.
" Patrick Mohan.
" Xavier Rensen, a Novice.
Brother M. Bernard, Procurator.

BROTHERS OF CHRISTIAN INSTRUCTION.

These brothers have a Novitiate at New Paradise Grove, four miles from Dubuque. There are twelve brothers in the community, of whom three are novices. Brother David, Director. They have charge of an

ACADEMY FOR BOYS,
At Dubuque.

This school is conducted by three Brothers of Christian Instruction, and has 130 scholars, divided most properly into three classes; kept in three large separate rooms, in which all the branches of a truly solid education are taught.

It is to be observed that this school, as well as that of the Sisters of Charity in Dubuque, receives its share of the funds distributed by the Directors of the Public Schools in the State of Iowa; and that the enjoyment of this right was obtained without much difficulty by the Bishop of this Diocess.

ST. JOSEPH'S ACADEMY.

St. Joseph's Female Academy is about eight miles from the city of Dubuque. The site is elevated, healthy, beautiful, and surrounded by a rich alluvial soil. The chapel and buildings are plain but neat. At a short distance stands St. Joseph's Church; its congregation is already numerous. The children of the country come early on Sundays for instruction: they are invited, and cordially provided with a plentiful dinner by the Very Rev. Superior. This purchase of one square mile has been made for the mother-house of the community, with funds furnished by the generous Philadelphians, as an indemnity to an unoffending society, who had suffered in that city by the burnings of May 1844. Another fire has afflicted this community; but by much exertion, and with the help of generous persons, a large stone house is commenced, which will make the establishment much more conspicuous and comfortable

CONVENT AND ACADEMY OF THE VISITATION,
Keokuk, Iowa.

ST. MARY'S FEMALE ACADEMY,

Already known to the public, is re-opened in Dubuque, to which is attached a large day school. The use of this property, for the time being, has been given by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Loras, to the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin.

The Mother Superior is Sister Mary Frances Clarke, to whom letters are to be directed. There are in the community at present, forty sisters, including novices. Last season they had at St. Joseph's Academy 22 boarders. Parents or guardians residing at a distance are required to have a responsible agent in the city of Dubuque.

Terms.—Board and tuition, per annum, including bed, washing and mending,.....$100 00
Music, and use of the Piano, quarterly,..... 10 00
French or German, per quarter,..... 4 00

The Very Rev. T. C. Donaghoe is the founder and the director of this new order.

Dubuque Catholic Society, which was formed in 1837, is chiefly intended to support the church and the clergy of the cathedral. It includes now all the male members of the congregation, who are 18 years old, or above. They pay 25 cents per month, or $3 a year.

Ladies' Catholic Association, of Dubuque, for charitable purposes. The ladies meet on every second Sunday in the month, and pay 12½ cents per month, chiefly for the support of the poor and orphans. A charity sermon is preached occasionally.

Sunday Schools at Dubuque, Makoqueti, Davenport, Burlington, &c.

A School at Makoqueti, Jackson county, under the direction of the Rev. Jer. Tracy.

A large and well built brick house, in the rear of the Cathedral, has been completed. It is at present occupied as a residence for the Bishop and Clergy of the Diocess. The interior arrangements are adapted for the purposes of a Seminary.

There are Temperance Societies in Dubuque, and several other places.

DIOCESS OF ST. PAUL.*

This Diocess, which comprises the whole Territory of Minesota, is under the charge of the Rt. Rev. Joseph Cretin, D. D. It was created on the 28th of June, 1850, by His Holiness Pius IXth.

CHURCHES AND CLERGY.

MINESOTA.

St. Paul—the capital and seat of the Government of this Territory—St. Paul's—Rt. Rev. Jos. Cretin, D. D., Rev. Marcellin Peyrogrosse, Rev. Daniel Fisher. The Catholic population of this congregation, which amounts to about 1500 souls, is composed mainly of French Canadians, Irish and some Germans. These last are served by Rev. Frederick Warfield.

St. Peter, or Mendota, St. Peter's—Very Rev. Augustine Ravoux. Congregation mainly composed of half-breeds. The country around is settling fast. A stone church, very substantial and neat, 75 feet by 35, was built last summer, mainly by the exertions of its worthy pastor and the generosity of the half-breeds, among whom we may mention Mr. Alex. Foribault. The number of Catholics of this place may amount to 400.

Falls of St. Anthony, St. Anthony of Padua—Rev. Dennis Ledon. This congregation numbers about 450 souls. There is a fine stone and frame church standing on a conspicuous block given by Mr. Peter Botineau. Three Sisters of St. Joseph have under their direction a good school in this place.

Little Canada, St. John the Evangelist—Rev. John Fayole. Log and frame church neatly fixed inside and outside, surrounded by 20 acres of land, given by three members of the congregation. Population about 450 Canadians.

Still Water, or Lake St. Croix, St. Michael's, stone and frame church—Rev. Daniel Fisher. This congregation may number about 350 souls. The most part of the settlers are Irish, laboring men from New Brunswick.

Marine—visited from Still Water.

*This report was furnished by the Rt. Rev. Bishop.

Taylor's Falls—visited from Still Water, as well as three or four other places on the other side of the St. Croix river. The whole Catholic population of these different places may be estimated at about 900 souls.

Hasting and Point Douglas, Guardian Angels, stone and frame church well situated on a fine block. The Catholic population three miles around may be set down at 350 souls. They are visited from St. Paul.

Wabasha, on Lake Pepin, St. Thomas', log church—visited from St. Paul. The Catholic population, which is composed of half-breeds, Irish, and some Germans, may amount to two hundred souls. There are below Lake Pepin, on the right bank of the Mississippi, in the square of 180 miles, a dozen of other settlements, in which many Catholic families reside, but they have not yet made any application for having a church, or to be visited.

Foribaut Town, on Canon river, new settlement, improving fast on account of the fertility of its lands. A church is to be erected here next spring, under the invocation of St. Anne.

Traverse des Sioux. The Catholic population, half-breeds, Canadians, Irish and Germans, five miles around, 400. A church is to be erected next spring here, on a fine block granted for that purpose, under the invocation of Our Lady of the Visitation, or of all Graces.

Le Sueur, on the St. Peter river. A fine block has been given for the erection of a church, under the name of St. Patrick, in this promising town.

Fort, on the St. Peter river, St. Mauritius. The garrison of this fort, which is composed mainly of Irish and German Catholics, and whose many officers are also Catholics, as well as many mechanics engaged in the construction of this new fort, have made a collection to have a church built next spring. They may have a priest residing in the neighborhood in the Indian Mission.

INDIAN MISSIONS.

Long Prairie, Winnebagoe Indians, Our Lady of Seven Dolors—Very Rev. Francis de Vivaldi, Canon of Vintimil, has under his direction the school of this tribe. Between sixty and ninety children are in daily attendance at this school, and are improving much under many respects, mainly through the zeal, charity and patience of three Sisters of St. Joseph. A great deal more would have been done for this tribe if the liberal intentions of the Government had not been frustrated by the dishonest opposition of the ex-agent, Mr. Fridley. He has refused until now to deliver the money handed to him more than eight months ago to pay the teacher and furnish the scholars with provisions and clothing. The Bishop of St. Paul has been obliged to advance a good deal of money to prevent the teacher and scholars from starving, and he has not yet recovered a cent. Catholic population about 200.

Pimbina, St. Joseph's—Very Rev. Joseph Bellecourt, who founded this prosperous mission, which numbers more than fifteen hundred Catholics, mainly half-breeds. There is a school directed by some Sisters of Charity. This place promises to become very important, being the first post on the lands of the United States, close by the British Possessions and the Selkirk Settlement. The first settlement of Pimbina, 20 miles from St. Joseph, possesses a large log church, under the title of the Assumption—it is visited from St. Joseph.

Crow Wing, St. Francis Xavier's—Rev. Francis Pierz. Log church. Catholic population 250. Three other stations among the Indians are visited from this place : Mill Lake, where five or six hundred Ojibaways reside ; many among them are Catholics ; Sandy Lake Indians, Ojibaway, and Sacrapids.

Fond Du Lac, on the St. Louis river, Indian village Ojibaways, log church, St. Louis—Rev. M. Skolla. Catholic population about 400, half-breeds and Indians

INSTITUTIONS.

Only two students in theology form the Seminary attached to the Bishop's house ; four other students are preparing for the Holy Ministry in other Diocesses.

A numerous school for boys under the superintendence of Rev. M. Peyrogrosse, and the tuition of Rev. Thomas Murrey, is kept in spacious and elegant rooms of the lower story of the Bishop's house.

SISTERS OF ST. JOSEPH.

Their house, (a brick building,) situated in a fine and healthy location on the highest point of the bank of the Mississippi, between the lower and upper town, affords spacious room for more than one hundred day-scholars and a good number of boarders.

The branches taught in this institution are the same usually taught in other academies of the Union. Besides reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar and geography, plain sewing and all kinds of needle-work, they give lessons of sacred and profane history, elements of astronomy, chemistry, botany, literature, music, vocal and instrumental.

The terms for boarders, (always six months in advance,) is $100 per annum, with small extra charges, when the parents or tutors do not take the expenses of washing, mending, music, &c.

For further information apply to Mother Seraphine, Superior of the community, who, with her assistant, will exert herself for the proper instruction and training of her pupils.

An Hospital, all of stone, three stories and a half high, besides the basement, 75 feet by 34, in a fine location, on a large block given for the most part by Mr. H. Price, is nearly completed. It will afford room enough, in its different divisions, for a Novitiate for the Sisters; for an orphan asylum, and many patients, if the people of St. Paul feel disposed to support these charitable institutions. There is besides in St. Paul, a temperance society and a benevolent society, among the gentlemen and among the ladies ; the most part of the members of the society of the Living Rosary, and of the Archconfraternity of the Sacred Heart of Mary, have formed a charitable confraternity for the relief of the poor and of the sick, for the religious instruction of children, and the decent support of the sanctuary.

NOTE. The New Englanders, pretty numerous in St. Paul, have imported from their former home their narrow eastern prejudices against liberty of conscience and the freedom of education. In the name of liberty, as understood by them, they disregarded, last year, numerous petitions on that subject, and defeated a bill claiming that each denomination should be authorised to have schools of their own, supported by the public funds, provided these schools be well conducted, and although religious instruction should be given there; they thought proper to compel parents to pay taxes for schools that their conscience and their pastors forbid them to profit by. There is no hope to obtain anything this year from our Legislature, neither from the School Commissioners, for our numerous schools. These gentlemen would do well to take some lessons of liberality from their neighbors in Dubuque and Galena.

INSTITUTIONS.

CONVENT OF OUR LADY OF LIGHT,

Santa Fe.

UNDER THE DIRECTION OF THE SISTERS OF LORETTO.

This institution was opened January 1, 1853. Sister Magdalen Hayden, Mother Superior. This academy has already a good number of boarders and day-scholars. Young ladies are taught all the branches which constitute a good education, with music, English, Spanish and French languages.

A preparatory school is kept by Padre Trujillo for young men who wish to enter the holy ministry.

The wild Indians (infidels) in this territory are estimated at 25,000, and several tribes have expressed their desire of being instructed in the Catholic faith, but unfortunately the number of clergymen is not sufficient to attend to these pressing wants.

The Mother-house and novitiate are in Broad street, Providence. There are in this community, 8 professed choir sisters, 14 novices, 4 postulants and 15 lay-sisters.

Young Ladies' Academy—Conducted by the Sisters of Mercy. This academy is attached to the Mother-house, where all the branches essential to a solid and refined education are taught.

St. Mary's R. C. Orphan Asylum. The sisters have opened, in a house connected with their convent, the above institution, in which there are fifty orphans. Much good has already been accomplished by this institution.

Cathedral Female Free School. The Sisters of Mercy have charge of this school, in which they teach daily 300 children.

St. Patrick's Female Free School. The Sisters of Mercy are in charge of this school, and teach in it daily 200 children.

ST. CATHARINE'S CONVENT,

New Haven.

The Sisters of Mercy in this city keep an orphan asylum, and teach in their free school 230 little girls. They have also an academy at their residence. Sister M. Josephine Lombard, Superior.

ST. MARY'S CONVENT,

Hartford.

Sister M. Paula Lombard, Superior. The Sisters of Mercy in this city keep an orphan asylum, and teach in their free school about 200 little girls. They have also an academy at their residence.

Cathedral Free School for Boys. This school is taught by an accomplished teacher, aided by an assistant, and is under the supervision of a clergyman of the Cathedral. There are 300 boys in daily attendance.

St. Patrick's Free School for Boys. There are in daily attendance in this school, about 200 boys. In that of St. Joseph's there are about 150.

There are male and female free schools in Hartford, Norwich, New London, New Haven, Bridgeport and Birmingham, and all in a most flourishing condition, and fully equal to the best State schools. It is to be hoped, that in a little time every congregation in the diocess will have its school. If we wish to save the rising generation to religion and God, we will, even at a sacrifice, give them a thorough Catholic education; nothing short of this will protect youth against error, and save them to religion.

Sunday schools exist in all the congregations in the diocess, and are fairly attended.

As the majority of our children are daily occupied in the factories, the pastors will endeavor to have them attend the Sunday school.

Religious Societies. The Purgatorian Society organized at the Cathedral, is in a most flourishing condition. Its object is continuous prayer for the souls of the faithful departed. It is eminently religious, and gives much edification. The holy father has most kindly extended the indulgence and privileges of the parent society in Dublin to the society in this diocess.

The Scapular and Rosary societies are organized in almost all the congregations of the diocess, and are in a prosperous condition.

An Orphan Asylum for Girls, which maintains at present 26 female orphans; and

A free day school, which averages about 100 pupils. The good Sisters of this institution also visit occasionally the sick poor. The institution has been now in existence for several years, having been originally a branch from the house of the same name in Charleston, which was founded by the late illustrious Rt. Rev. Dr. England. It has already effected a vast deal of good, for which the diocess is principally indebted to the untiring zeal of the Rev. J. F. O'Neill, sen'r., the Spiritual Director of the Sisters. Sister Mary Vincent Mahoney, Mother Superior.

A day school for boys is attached to the church in Savannah, under the immediate charge of the sexton of the church. The number of scholars in attendance averages 100. This school also owes its existence to the Rev. J. F. O'Neill, sen'r.

The Society of our Lady Help of Christians in Savannah, is managed by a number of the ladies of the congregation of St. John the Baptist, who divide themselves into committees and visit the different districts of the city, those who are in distress, particularly the sick poor, distributing among them their own alms, and the alms of the various subscribers to the society, which have been placed in their hands for the relief of the indigent and the sick.

Confraternity of St. John the Baptist in Savannah, for the suppression and prevention of intemperance, was introduced in its present form on the 29th of August, 1852, the festival of the beheading of St. John the Baptist. The members take the pledge of total abstinence, and recite daily one Pater and one Ave, and the short aspiration "Holy Patron, St. John the Baptist, pray for us." The Confraternity numbers already several hundred members.

An Orphan Society exists in Savannah, the members of which pay a small sum monthly for the support of the inmates of the Orphan Asylum.

INDIAN MISSIONS.

St. Michael's, (Archangel,) on the borders of Lake Thowano. This mission of the Menomonee tribe is now under the pastoral charge of Rev. Otto Skolla. It is divided at present into two large districts. One-half of this tribe live on the east side of Wolf River, and the other half are located on the north-east side of the Oconto river, which empties into the bay of Green Bay. A church and school houses are to be built next year in the midst of each of the above districts, should the Menomonees be permitted, by the general government, to remain for a long space of time on the tract of land which they now occupy. They have English and Indian Sunday schools for children of both sexes; they have also a temperance society. The schools continue in a very flourishing condition. The number of pupils has increased every year since their introduction. Several families have embraced christianity this year, and the progress of the tribe towards civilization is very rapid. It is hoped that the large amount of good done among the Menomonees by the Rev. J. Fl. Bonduel, who had charge of this important Indian mission for seven years, will be still further increased by the zeal and piety of Rev. Father Skolla, who will also extend his missionary labors to Lac des Flambeaux and Lac de Courtes Oreilles, among the Chippeways in the North, and along the Oconto and Menomonee rivers to the south among the emigrants there located.

St. Joseph's Mission, Lapoint, on one of the "Apostles' Islands" of Lake Superior. This, the first mission founded by Rev. F. Baraga, now Vicar Apostolic of the Northern Peninsula of Michigan, has declined much in consequence of the removal of the Indians and half-breeds who composed it to the West of the Mississippi. Rt. Rev. F. Baraga will, at the request of the Rt. Rev. J. M. Henni, assume the charge of the missionary districts along Lake Superior.

SINSINAWA MOUND COLLEGE,

Wisconsin.

This institution, conducted by the Fathers of the Order of St. Dominic, was opened for the reception of students in September last. It is situated in the South-west corner of the State of Wisconsin, ten miles from Galena, Illinois, and six miles from Dubuque, Iowa. It occupies the most healthy and picturesque site in the West. It would seem as if nature had designedly heaved up this Mound 550 feet above the level of the Mississippi river, to stand in the midst of a vast mineral and agricultural region, to become the abode of health, virtue and learning. The college building is of stone, four stories high—so situated as to command on the south, the view of a part of Northern Illinois, and of a long chain of bluffs and highlands of Iowa, along the Western shores of the "Father of Waters," and on the North is guarded by the summit of the Mound covered by the primitive oak.

The Legislature of Wisconsin, on the 11th of March, 1848, raised this institution to the rank of a college—investing it with all powers granted to such literary establishments in the Western States, and endowed it with ample privileges.

The system of education will comprise the various branches of the arts and sciences usually taught in similar institutions in this country.

January 2.—At Grand Rapids, Mich., Rev. Andrew Viszoski, aged 60 years, a native of Hungary. Dr. Varela was a native of Havana, and distinguished by his learning, piety and zeal, which he displayed during the many years of his ministry in the diocess of New York, and while sojourning more recently in the south for the benefit of his health. For a long time previous to his death he was one of the vicars-general of the New York diocess.

February 26.—At New York, Rev. Thomas Mulrine, assistant pastor of the Cathedral, in the 28th year of his age. The deceased was a native of France, but was ordained priest in the United States in 1793, and was the first that received ordination at the hands of Bishop Carroll. Sent by that prelate to evangelize the western country, the young missionary labored in the performance of the duty assigned him, amidst every species of hardship and privation, and for several years almost alone in the field. He was a man of great energy of body and mind, and found great delight in the discharge of his sacred functions. By his untiring zeal, he justly entitled himself to be called the apostle of Kentucky, which was the theatre of his early toils. Remarks.—The Bishop hopes to be able next year to build a church and a convent in Van Buren. He is very desirous to see established at Mount St. Mary's, near Fayetteville, a Male Religious Community. Five hundred orphan boys could be supported and protected on the fertile and beautiful farm donated by the good Father Corry. The farm comprises six hundred and forty acres, and in the United States there cannot be a more healthy location. The fruit growing on the place could not be excelled in Europe.

This summary exhibits the statistics of each diocess and of each ecclesiastical province. Some of the figures in the table will be found to vary from those in the recapitulations of the respective diocesses, owing to corrections that have since been made. In the number of clergymen this discrepancy arises from the publication, in the alphabetical list, of the names of several clergymen who are not reported on active duty. The figures under the head of "clerical students," are rather above the real number, as some students have been designated in more than one diocess. The number of clerical students, in the theological and preparatory seminaries, is given more exactly in the subjoined tables.

From the summary here presented, and preceding statements, it follows that in the United States there are 7 archbishops, 32 bishops, 1574 priests, and 1712 churches, distributed among 41 diocesses and 2 apostolic vicariates, and showing for the past year an increase of 9 diocesses,* 1 archbishop, 6 bishops, 113 priests, and 167 churches. During the year, 37 priests departed this life, 6 were elevated to the episcopacy, and besides these, about 100 whose names appeared on the catalogue of 1853, and others, are not reported for 1854: whence it appears, that the total accession of priests during the year was upwards of 256!

The figures of population in the table are those returned by the Most Rev. and Rt. Rev. Bishops: but as they are not complete, we forbear any hypothetical estimate of the total number of Catholics in the United States, in regard to which there exists so vast a difference of opinion. On this subject we beg leave to remark, that with a view to procure such data as would afford the basis of a correct estimate, we adopted measures to obtain from the parochial clergy throughout the country, their own estimates of the number of Catholics under their charge, and also a statement of the deaths that occurred in their respective parishes or missions during the year, that is, from August 1852 to August 1853. With data of this kind it would be easy to determine, with considerable accuracy, the Catholic population of this country. Our efforts, however, having in a great measure been frustrated, we can only express the hope, that another attempt to procure the necessary information will prove more successful. In the Archdiocess of Baltimore, reports on the subject of population were received from a majority of the parochial clergy, but not from all. We respectfully request the Most Rev. and Rt. Rev. prelates and the Rev. clergy to co-operate with us in this interesting investigation.

* That of Walla Walla is suppressed, and the districts of Fort Hall and Colville are omitted for the reason already mentioned.

† Besides the number of students here enumerated and those not reported, there are about 65 employed in collegiate institutions. In the reports received, some of these seminaries are merely stated to be under the care of clergymen who have charge of colleges annexed, as at Springhill, Buffalo, &c., for which reason it is supposed that the number of officers mentioned above are in some cases not all employed in the ecclesiastical department.

This table shows that from 1834 to 1844, the personal and material force of the church in the United States increased at the rate of about 100 per cent.; the number of diocesses, bishops, priests, churches, seminaries, colleges and female academies, having about doubled during that period. During the last ten years, nearly the same ratio is observable, except in the number of churches and priests: in these departments the ratio of increase has been about 170 per cent.

* Archbishops and bishops are included in the same enumeration. † And eight bishops elect. ‡ The districts of Fort Hall, &c., in Oregon, are not included in this table. ‖ The figure of colleges expresses, as well as could be ascertained, the incorporated institutions. § Nesqualy this year became an episcopal see.

MYLIUS' HISTORY OF ENGLAND.

For the use of Catholic Colleges and Schools. An abridged History of England, for the use of Schools, to which is added, an Abstract of the Constitution, and a Geographical Treatise, according to the Roman, Saxon and Modern Divisions, brought down to the end of the reign of George IV. By W. F. Mylius. Neatly bound in sheep, . Price 63

The plan of this history is different from most of the histories now in use. It is divided into nine books, each of which is subdivided into chapters, in which the military history, the ecclesiastical history, the laws and government, and the manners and customs are given separately. In the end of the work is a series of questions adapted to the text.

Extract of a letter from the late Rt. Rev. Dr. Milner to the author:

"Sir,—From a slight inspection of your history, my conviction is, that it is a valuable acquisition to our Catholic Seminaries, of both sexes; as such, I shall not fail to recommend it to them and their superiors, as far as my influence extends."

LOVE OF CHRIST.

Love of our Lord Jesus Christ reduced to practice. By St. Alphonsus Liguori. Translated into English by the Rt. Rev. W. Walsh, Bishop of Halifax. "If any one will not love our Lord Jesus Christ, let him be accursed."—St. Paul. New edition 18mo. cloth, ... Price 37

WAY OF SALVATION.

The Way of Salvation, in Meditations for every day in the year. Translated from the Italian of St. Alphonsus Liguori, by the Rev. James Jones. 24mo. cloth, . . Price 37

CONTENTS.

PART I. Meditations suitable for all times of the year.
PART II. Meditations for particular times and days of the year.
Novena for Christmas.
Novena on the Litany of Loretto.
Fifteen meditations on the Passion of Jesus Christ, for the last fifteen days of Lent.
Three Meditations on Heaven for Easter.
Novena of the Holy Ghost.
Eight meditations for the Octave of Corpus Christi.
PART III. Rules of a Christian life.
Darts of fire.

No subtilty of thought, nor loftiness of words, will be found in these meditations; but the greatest simplicity and the plainest forms of expression. Nothing in them will perplex the understanding, but all will powerfully appeal to the heart: for while they are remarkable for the beautiful simplicity of style so peculiar to the Beatified Author, they are not less characterized by profound piety, ardent love of God, and tender devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mother of God. They are each divided into three points; each point generally includes acts of the love of God, of contrition for sin, and of supplication for final perseverance; and every last point concludes with a short prayer to the ever Blessed Mary.

HOURS OF THE PASSION.

Hours of the Passion: or Pathetic Reflections on the Sufferings and Death of our Blessed Redeemer. By St. Alphonsus Liguori. Translated into English by the Rt. Rev. W. Walsh, Bishop of Halifax;—with a sketch of the Life of St. Alphonsus Liguori. "Greater love than this no man hath, that a man lay down his life for his friends."—John xv. 13. New edition. 18mo. cloth, ... Price 37

VISITS TO THE MOST HOLY SACRAMENT.

Visits to the Most Holy Sacrament and to the Blessed Virgin, for every day in the month. Aspirations of love to Jesus in the Holy Eucharist. Rules for frequent communion, with a defence of the same. Meditations for every day in the week, and a Novena for All Souls' Day. Translated from the Italian of St. Alphonsus Liguori, by a Catholic Clergyman. To which is added, a method of devoutly hearing Mass, by Blessed Leonard a Porto Mauritio. 24mo. cloth, Price 37

"The additions to this edition are very important; they occupy some sixty pages of additional space, and they present the translation perfect, from the original Italian, instead of being, as it was, defective, from the French copies. If there had been no more than the simple change of You to Thou, in addressing the Creator, or Redeemer, or the Blessed Virgin, it would have been a great improvement; but here is all that St. Alphonsus wrote on the advantages of, and rules for, frequent communion, with a defence of his doctrine on this subject, and a Novena for All Souls' Day. The saintly little book is a well-spring of pure devotion, and they are blest who assist in pouring out its waters."—The Tablet.

The best proof of a reading people, is the publication of works among them; how gratifying then to witness, not only the appearance of so many new works from our various publishers, but the nature of the works now so frequently offered to our attention. We have just received the work whose title we place above, from Mr. F. Lucas, Jr. It is a republication, the first, we believe, on this side of the Atlantic, of a most valuable volume, from the pen of the Rev. Joseph Reeve, author of the History of the Christian Church, and also compiler of the History of the Bible. The name of the author, would, in itself, be an ample recommendation, but the intrinsic value of the work itself, should recommend it to many purchasers. In the first part, the various attributes of the Deity are explained and practically illustrated. The history and miracles of Jesus Christ are recorded in the second part, in the exposition of the principal festivals instituted in his honor, and the institution of the Eucharistic sacrifice is established and explained. The volume is filled with practical knowledge, and we wish it were in the hands of every body. It is printed on fine paper and clear type.—Cath. Herald.

COCHIN ON THE MASS.

Instructions on the Prayers and Ceremonies of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. Translated from the French of M. Cochin, and arranged for each Sunday throughout the year, by W. Jos. Walter, late of St. Edmund's College. In one volume. 12mo. cloth, ... Price 75

CONTENTS.

The Preparation.
The Instruction.
The Oblation.
The Canon.
The Consecration.
The Preparation for Communion.
The Communion.
The Thanksgiving.

The object of the author in these instructions, has been to deduce such consequences as may come home more nearly to our own bosoms, such as are most conducive to edification, and best calculated to give animation to faith, and fresh fervor to devotion. He has been particularly solicitous to avoid that mystic character, which, in its attempt to give a mysterious construction to every trivial circumstance, has involved the whole subject in obscurity. His instructions on the various responses and minor prayers used by the church, which are apt to be hastily passed over, and by the frequency of their repetition, become a mere succession of unmeaning words, will be found particularly happy. Our Protestant brethren, who have been accustomed from their infancy to hear the very word Mass pronounced, with indistinct feelings of horror and aversion, should read this book in the same spirit of candor in which it was written.

BISHOP ENGLAND'S EXPLANATION OF THE MASS.

CATECHISM OF THE COUNCIL OF TRENT.

Published by command of Pope Pius V. Translated by Rev. J. Donovan, Professor, &c. Royal College, Maynooth.—In one volume, 8vo. cloth, ... Price $1 00

THE ROMAN CATECHISM, of which this is an English translation, was composed by decree of the Council of Trent; and the same venerable authority commands all Bishops "to take care that it be faithfully translated into the vernacular language, and expounded to the people by all pastors."

To meet the mischievous activity of the Reformers and to rear the edifice of Christian knowledge on its only secure and solid basis, the instruction of its authorized teachers; to afford the faithful a fixed standard of Christian belief, and to the Pastor a prescribed form of religious instruction; to supply a pure and perennial fountain of living waters to refresh and invigorate at once the Pastor and the flock, were amongst the important objects contemplated by the Fathers of Trent in the publication and translation of the Roman Catechism.

The world has been inundated with pernicious tracts, teeming with vituperative misrepresentations of the dogmas of the Catholic faith, and loaded with unmeasured invective against the principles of Catholic morality, by the action of the Fathers of Trent, and we are now furnished with an antidote eminently calculated to neutralize the poison, which has been so industriously diffused, to abate prejudice, instruct ignorance, promote piety, and confirm belief, in a work containing a comprehensive summary of the dogmas of the Catholic faith, and a no less comprehensive epitome of the principles of Catholic morality.

To another, and, happily, an increasing class of the community, the present volume cannot fail to prove a useful acquisition—to those who, anxious only for truth, desire to know the real principles of Catholics could they arrive at a knowledge of them through the medium of a compendious and authoritative exposition.

To these important ends we cannot, perhaps, contribute more effectually, than by placing within the reach of all, a Work explanatory of Catholic doctrine, and universally acknowledged authority in the Catholic Church.

The Cheapest School Book Published in the United States!

REEVE'S BIBLE HISTORY.

History of the Old and New Testament, interspersed with Moral and Instructive Reflections chiefly taken from the Holy Fathers, from the French by J. Reeve, in sheep binding, Price reduced to 50c.

In order to increase still further the immense circulation of this popular and standard School Book, the publisher has determined to reduce the retail price of it to the very low rate of fifty cents, from which the usual discount will be made to the trade. Clergymen, religious institutions and colleges will be allowed a discount when ordering in large quantities.

This reduction renders the book one of the cheapest school books now in use, as it contains 476 pages of Octavo, neatly bound in sheep, and it is only with the hope of extending its usefulness that the reduction of price is now made.

5 vols. 12mo. cloth, ... Price 3 50

The Rev. Author places the prominent and leading facts in such order as to give to general readers a sufficient knowledge of the occurrences regarding religion; this is done in a very clear, simple and pleasing style: there is no attempt at decoration, which would be altogether out of place in a historical work; perspicuity and orderly method are the essential characteristics of the historian—and the author of this work appears to us to have fully attained it. As far as we could judge, by some paragraphs which we have read, the style is uniformly and pleasingly sustained. The Index is accurately and judiciously compiled; so that the references are simple and abundant. It is a work which ought to be generally read.—U. S. Catholic Miscellany.

A supplement containing all the new Masses for the United States, including the Mass of the Immaculate Conception, has just been added to this edition, which renders it the best and most complete of its size now to be had.

SPIRITUAL CONSOLATION.

Or, a Treatise on Interior Peace. Translated from the French of Pere Lombez. Interspersed with various instructions necessary for promoting the practice of solid piety. By the Authoress of the Ursuline Manual.

Bound in sheep, ... Price 75

We really rejoiced on receiving from the publisher this most useful and practically interesting volume. Often did we sigh after the hope of seeing it, as we now do, forming a volume of our national re-publications; until lately, we were not aware of a second copy of the European translation having been in the country. Many manuscripts were formed from the original. We do not know a more pleasingly useful book than Pere Lombez's Treatise. It is divided into four parts. In the first, the beauty and excellence of interior peace is exhibited. In the second, we are guarded against the obstacles which destroy or disturb it. In the third, the means are pointed out for its attainment and preservation; and the fourth is a practical epitome of those means and their consequences. We could wish a copy in the hands of all those who believe the possession of interior peace is incompatible with the active duties of life.—Cath. Herald.

This work of the great Bossuet—perhaps the most useful of all his writings, and which he composed for the use of a few Protestants—was at first circulated privately; but at the earnest solicitation of some friends, the Prelate reluctantly gave his consent to make it public. The first edition was received with such avidity, and produced such happy effects upon the minds of many Protestants, that in a short time, it passed through several editions in almost every European language.

The value of this work is much enhanced by the copious notes of Fletcher, which render it more clear and perspicuous.

SPIRITUAL DIRECTOR

Of Devout and Religious Souls. From the Writings of St. Francis Sales. Bound in cloth, ... Price 75

The name of the truly great St. Francis gave a worth and character to this work, which no language of ours can enhance. Each chapter is devoted to the elucidation of some Christian virtue, or to the enforcement of some Christian duty. It is one of those peculiarly excellent books, of which we can never tire. It is not to buy it, read it, and then put it on the shelf. Over and over again it may be perused, and then re-perused, and always with profit and delight. A chapter or two might be studied, and made the subject of meditation for every day of life—and to those who have no director of a similar kind, we recommend that they obtain this without delay.

The object of this little Tale, written by one of the Religious of the "Order of our Lady of Charity of the Good Shepherd," is to make known the true nature of the Order and the workings of the Asylums under their care. MRS. HERBERT.

Mrs. Herbert and the Villagers; or Familiar Conversations on the Principal Duties of Christianity.

2 vols. 18mo. cloth, ... Price 1 50

Religion is the only true foundation of morality.—BURKE.

The enemies of the Catholic creed have insidiously poured forth, in religious tales, the most unfounded calumnies against their doctrines and practice. It is right to learn a lesson from their misdirected zeal, to wrest from their hands the arms by which they impugn the truth, and to combat them with their own weapons. It was in this spirit that the dialogues of Mrs. Herbert were written for the use of the poor, by a lady, whose zeal and judgment cannot be too much admired, and who has sought and found, in the holy seclusion of a conventual life, those consolations of religion which she so beautifully describes in this interesting work.

FATHER ROWLAND.

A North American Tale. By Rev. C. C. Pise, D. D.

18mo. cloth, gilt back, ... Price 38

This little tale combines at once much theological research, a thorough knowledge of the world, an acquaintance with men, and an ability of description almost approaching to poesy.

It strikes us that it was written in answer to "Father Clement," although the name of that abusive little romance is not once mentioned—nor are the misrepresentations with which it abounds, so much as even alluded to.—Metropolitan.

THE INDIAN COTTAGE.

An Unitarian Story. By Rev. C. C. Pise, D. D.

18mo. cloth, ... Price 38

The above work, by the author of Father Rowland, was written in vindication of a dogma, which is not only questioned, but systematically attacked, by a denomination who style themselves "Christians." This too, is the most vital dogma of Christianity; for, if the founder of the new covenant was a mere man, the system which he established is not as sublime as that of the old. The reality is not more substantial than the figure. The prophecies have not been fulfilled.—Christ is no greater than the prophets, less than Moses.—This will be made manifest, it is thought, to any who will peruse this little work with attention, and without prejudice.

FATHERS OF THE DESERT.

The Lives of the Fathers of the Desert, and of many holy men and women who dwelt in solitude. Translated from the French. Illustrated with 18 Engravings.

18mo. cloth, ... Price 38

Christian reader, this little treatise will lead you to a knowledge of the true spirit of solitude: you will be transported to the wild recesses of the desert, or the dark caverns of the mountain, hallowed by the presence of some saintly hermit, and linger awhile in the interior of his cell, to listen to his conversation, witness his penances, and kneeling before that rude crucifix affixed to the rock as an emblem of a Saviour's love, unite with him in pious prayer. It will teach you to retire to the solitude of your own heart, and live amidst the glittering allurements of the world as if you knew them not. "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

ORATORY OF THE FAITHFUL SOUL.

Or devotion to the Most Holy Sacrament, and to our Blessed Lady, translated from the works of the venerable Abbot Blosius, by Robert Aston Coffin, Priest of the Oratory.

18mo. cloth, ... Price 38

A glance at these devotions is sufficient to show that they are the outpourings of one whose very life was to dwell with Christ, and to hold communion with him, and who, consequently felt the most tender and affectionate love for His Most Holy Mother. If they tend to increase a spirit like that which animated the venerable Blosius, in his devotions to our Divine Redeemer and His Most Blessed Mother, the end of offering them to the faithful will be answered.

THE SPIRITUAL CONSOLER.

Or instructions to enlighten pious souls in their doubts, and allay their fears; written originally in Italian, by Father Quadrupani, Barnabite. Dedicated to the divine source of light and heat, the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

18mo. cloth, ... Price 25

Those who read and study this manual of piety, and thoroughly imbibe the holy lessons which it teaches, will surely find all the sweet consolation, and taste all the rich fruit, which its title promises.

Having been written by the holy father while preaching the Lent, it is especially proper for reading, in regular portions, during that time. There is no one whose ideas would not be refreshed or corrected, in some points, by a careful reading of this tract.

THE TWO SCHOOLS.

A moral tale, by Mrs. Hughs.

12mo. cloth, ... Price 50

This tale, dedicated to the Orphans of St. John's Asylum, Philadelphia, and written for their benefit, will be found on perusal, to be worthy of the object for which it was written.

SEVEN VIRTUES.

Stories of the Seven Virtues. By Agnes M. Stewart.

One volume. 18mo. neatly bound in cloth, ... Price 38

This is a series of moral and interesting tales, told with an elegant simplicity—each illustrating the triumph of one of the seven virtues. The stories are well conceived, and the moral ever salutary and impressive. To our young friends we would recommend this little volume with an assurance that its perusal will be attended with more practical good than if they had waded through a dozen of the light and trashy novels of the day. The gifted authoress has prepared a work for which her young friends ought to be truly grateful.—Truth Teller.

The accomplished writer of these pious and moral narratives has ably mingled in them the useful with the pleasing. They are designed for the instruction of young persons, on the practical subjects of humility, liberality, chastity, meekness, temperance, brotherly-love and diligence, and contain an illustration of these virtues which will be read with equal pleasure and profit.—Cath. Mirror.

TRIUMPH OF RELIGION;

Or, a Choice Selection of Edifying Narratives, compiled from various authors, by the Rev. James Fitton.

18mo. cloth, gilt back, ... Price 38

Example is every thing in the formation of character; and there is no more fitting book to place in the hands of youth, whose principles are not firmly fixed, than this one, which illustrates virtue by examples drawn from history. The purity of the morals depends upon the bias too often given by vicious books when the mind is most easily impressed.

PARABLES.

Parables of P. Bonaventure Girardeau, S. J. author of L'Evangile Medité.

18mo. cloth, ... Price 38

This method of instruction is sanctioned by the practice and authority of our Divine Redeemer himself, who conveyed his life—giving doctrine to the people under the guise of similitudes and parables. It is a mode of instruction peculiarly adapted to children.

REVIEW OF FOX'S MARTYRS.

Critical and Historical Review of Fox's Book of Martyrs, showing the Inaccuracies, Falsehoods and Misrepresentations in that Work of Deception. By William Eusebius Andrews. Embellished with fifty engravings.

In 2 vols. 8vo. bound in one volume, cloth, Price $2 50

It was during the reign of terror and proscription in England, when the faithful historian was certain of being incarcerated in a prison, if he escaped with his life; when magistrates were empowered to make domiciliary visits at any hour, in search of works favorable to the Catholic creed; when spies were encouraged to denounce those whom they suspected: it was under this system, that the infamous libel of John Fox, made its first appearance in the English language.

Fox's Book of Martyrs has contributed to excite prejudices and bigotry against the Catholic Church more, perhaps, than any other book extant. Aware of this, the enemies of the Church have spared neither pains nor expense to give it a wide circulation. Edition after edition has issued from the press, until the book has found its way into every library and every Protestant family in the land, among whom it has become a favorite manual of amusement and instruction. To counteract the poison of this book of lies, it is necessary to give the antidote as extensive a circulation as possible. We consider it the duty of every Catholic to have a copy of the "Review," to read it with care and put it into the hands of every man who will hear and profit by the truth. By this means the public will be enabled to detect the monstrous imposition palmed upon the community, and the shame and infamy of wilful and malicious falsehood will return upon those who circulate this book of misrepresentation for an authentic record of facts. We do not deny that Catholics have persecuted as well as Protestants. But if the truth must—let it be told. Let there be no exaggeration; and while we execrate the inhuman persecutor, whether Catholic or Protestant, let us not, as infidels have done, charge the crime upon Christianity in general, or upon the particular sect to which they belonged, unless it can be proved that these persecutions are produced by their religious principles and profession.

CATHOLIC PRIMER, for the use of Children.

Price 6¼ cents—or by the hundred, $2 00

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

The Life of St. Vincent de Paul—translated from the French.

24mo. cloth, gilt back, ... Price 38

This work has been published in this small form in order to bring it within the reach of persons of all classes, with the hope of diffusing more widely the knowledge of the institution of which this Saint was the venerated founder, and of stimulating the faithful to a persevering imitation of his characteristic virtues, causing the greater glory of God thereby to be materially promoted.

PIETY EXEMPLIFIED:

With appropriate illustrations, from historical, and other sources; interspersed with familiar reflections, adapted to the capacity of youth. By the Rev. B. Rayment.

Two vols. bound in one, cloth, gilt back, ... Price 75

The examples that are here selected, are founded on facts taken from real life. The authorities are not all given, for obvious reasons that require no apology: whilst those that are given, may be safely depended upon.

Neither time nor labor has been spared to elucidate the truth. With regard to the language, sentiments, incidents, and occasional applications, the author has had in view the advantage of his young readers, by endeavouring to give the most lively interest in his power to the performance.

He has drawn stores from every mine within his reach: his object has been to breathe into the whole work an animating spirit of virtue, a high sense of honour, probity, and philanthropy: these are the powers he has pressed into his service, purposely to refine, and exalt the sentiments of the heart; to improve, and inform the understanding; and to call into activity the faculty of invention and research—the first index of latent genius—the first opening of every future exertion.

I cheerfully recommend to the patronage of the Catholic community, the Catechism of Perseverance, translated from the "Petit Catechisme de Perseverance," of the Abbé Gaume, as a work well calculated to impart solid, historical, liturgical, moral and doctrinal instruction in an agreeable form, and as being particularly well suited for the purpose of higher religious instruction in Catholic Schools and Academies.

† MARTIN J., Bishop of Louisville.

CHURCH VESTMENTS AND SILVER WARE

From leading European Manufacturers.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED!!!

WARRANTED ARTICLES OF FOREIGN MANUFACTURE ONLY.

CHURCH SILVER WARE.

The Chalices, Ciboriums, and Ostensoriums, delivered by the subscriber, are always fresh from Europe, and beautifully chased and ornamented with strictly liturgical emblems and medallions Many inferior imitations, in this branch of manufacture, have been attempted in this country. but the results have exhibited inappropriate and poorly executed emblems—imperfect and superficial silver plating—whitish and faded-like gilding, very unsatisfactory to the purchasers, and even so to the Reverend Clergymen occasionally presented with those articles.

The stock on hand embraces over 150 different models of OSTENSORIUMS, CIBORIUMS, CHALICES, CROZIERS, &c., &c , &c., of the highest style of workmanship. These rich articles being imported ONLY TO ORDER, will be manufactured under special and precise instructions; and when delivered to purchasers, will stand as further brilliant proofs of the exquisite taste and wonderful workmanship which can be displayed on articles of sacred art.

Ostensoriums, Ciboriums, and Chalices.

"RENAISSANCE,"	—Several most beautiful Patterns.
Do.	Of the XIXth century.
ROMAN,	Several splendid Designs.
GOTHIC FLEURI,	Do. do. do.
BYZANTINE,	XVth century, splendid designs.

To persons or congregations wishing to make any offering either to the Rev. Pastor of the Parish, or the Right Rev. Prelate of the Diocess, the above will be sent by mail, under the express understanding, that they will be EARLY sent back, in good order and free of postage, to the subscriber.

CHURCH VESTMENTS.

It has been generally acknowledged, that the Church Vestments and Sacred Vases, furnished by the subscriber, are of genuine materials, graceful patterns, highly finished workmanship, and strictly in accordance with the Liturgy of the Church. Every Chasuble, Cope, Dalmatic, and Pastoral Stole, is carefully made after the most graceful and most approved patterns of Paris and Lyons. Hence it is granted that the Vestments sold by the subscriber bear no comparison in make and combination of materials, with the ill-shaped and gaudy tinselled coverings which have been, and are as yet, offered for the sacred and dignified service of the altar.

Through the concurrence of special Agents in several cities of Europe, the subscriber is at present supplied with the lowest prices of those markets; and will receive and execute orders from Rev. Pastors or Altar Societies, and deliver at very low prices, full sets of ordinary or expensive Vestments, Parochial Chalices, Ostensoriums, Altar Candlesticks, &c.

ALTAR CANDLES

ALWAYS ON HAND.

The "Kappa and Lambda Candles" of 4's, (the most usual size) 5's and 6's to the pound, in 30, 15 and 6 lb. boxes.

The "Kappa and Lambda Candles" of short 12's to the pound, for illumination in high festivals, in 30, 15 and 6 lb. boxes.

The "Kappa and Lambda Candles" of long 12's to the pound, for the inside tubes of high candlesticks, in 30, 15 and 6 lb. boxes.

Several months ago, a circular having been addressed to the Reverend Clergy, to offer these Candles for church purposes, a very interesting controversy arose, under the respective signatures of Kappa and Lambda, as to whether other material than pure wax could be used on altars.

To the readers of the two sides of that controversy is left the verdict as to the tolerated use on altars, of the Candles herein offered.

Orders for these Candles continue to be sent from Right Reverend Prelates and Reverend Pastors of many city and country churches, and the demand is daily increasing, as a proof of their superior quality and low price.

MASS WINE

SPECIALLY PREPARED AT A MONASTERY IN EUROPE.

Forwarded with despatch to any part of the U. States, in demijohns, cases and casks.

Having frequently received orders from the Reverend Clergy to supply MASS WINE of a quality entirely free from deleterious drugs and chemical preparations, the subscriber has completed arrangements to receive from the vine-grounds of a monastery of Europe, a quality of WINE SPECIALLY PREPARED FOR THE USE OF THE ALTAR.

It is confidently offered to the Reverend Clergy as the ONLY WINE in this country which can be warranted as POSITIVELY PURE.

N. B. SPECIAL PACKING.—Wines, either in demijohns, casks, or boxes, will be carefully packed (if so ordered) in strong merchandise-like cases, firmly nailed and strapped, securing thereby their safe arrival at the place of destination.

Revised, improved, and greatly enlarged by the addition of several Prayers in general use in this country, not to be found in the Irish editions. By a Catholic Priest of this city. The whole approved of by the Right Rev. Bishop of Philadelphia. The following extract from the Preface to the Irish edition, will give some faint idea of the excellence of this book:

The "URSULINE MANUAL" having been compiled principally for young persons, the present work has been carefully arranged, in order to supply the increasing spiritual necessities of adults. And as their progress in virtue must be considerably promoted by frequently and fervently approaching the Sacraments of Penance and the Holy Eucharist, especial attention has been given to every thing relative to these two sources of heavenly light and strength. Prayers suitable to all states and conditions have been appended, so as to render this work a complete Manual of Christian Piety, whence all who desire to love God, and to live for him alone, may derive aid and instruction. * * Hoping that this work, the fruit of much care and consideration, may promote the greater glory of God, and realize all the pious intentions of its author, we commit it to the favor of the public, bespeaking for it some of that decided partiality and indulgence, hitherto so liberally extended to its prototype, "The Ursuline Manual." The work is comprised in a neat 18mo. volume, of between six and seven hundred pages, stereotyped from new, large, and clear type, cast expressly for this work, and illustrated with beautiful, fine, new engravings, by an eminent artist; it is printed on clear, white, fine paper, and bound in the most substantial styles, and sold at the following extraordinary low prices, viz:

INSTRUCTIONS on the Holiness and Dignity of the Sacrament of Matrimony, addressed to Parents and Christian youth. By Rev. M. Vuarin, parish priest of Genevn. Translated from the French. 18mo., cloth,..... 38

The holiness of Christian marriage is too little known by the greater part of those who contract this religious engagement; the duties it imposes both as spouses and as parents are still less generally appreciated. Hence the disturbance of domestic peace, the bad education of children and the violation of the Sacrament. Those that are already engaged in the holy state of matrimony, and those about entering into it, will derive great benefit from a careful perusal of this little volume.

SOME OF THE LECTURES AND WORKS OF THE

MOST REV. JOHN HUGHES, D. D.,

ARCHBISHOP OF NEW-YORK,

Published and for Sale by DUNIGAN & BROTHER.

THE CATHOLIC CHAPTER IN THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES. A Lecture delivered in Metropolitan Hall, March 8th, 1852, for the benefit of the House of Protection, under the charge of the Sisters of Mercy. By the Most Rev. JOHN HUGHES, D. D., Archbishop of New-York. Price ... 12½

This important Lecture of the Most Rev. Archbishop, furnishes at one view a condensed History of the Colonies from the earliest period, and exhibits the various religious influences which were involved in the revolutionary contest; and gives it a peculiar value to those who would truly understand the History of our country. In this discourse, the Most Rev. Archbishop proves beyond cavil, not only by force of argument, but by a powerful, convincing, and indisputable array of facts, the indebtedness of the United States to Catholic Powers and Catholic Influence for their Liberty, and that Religious Liberty was not a boon, but entirely a matter of necessity.

THE DECLINE OF PROTESTANTISM. A Lecture delivered in St. Patrick's Cathedral, on Sunday Evening, November 10th, for the benefit of the House of Protection. By the Most Rev. JOHN HUGHES, D. D..... 6¼

THE CHURCH AND THE WORLD. A Lecture delivered in Philadelphia, Jan. 3d, 1850, for the benefit of St. John's Orphan Asylum, by the Most Rev. JOHN HUGHES, D. D..... 6¼

A DISCUSSION of the question, Is the Roman Catholic Religion, in any or in all its principles or doctrines, inimical to civil or religious liberty? And, Is the Presbyterian Religion inimical to civil or religious liberty? By the Rev. JOHN HUGHES, of the Catholic Church, and the Rev. JOHN BRECKENRIDGE, of the Presbyterian 2 00

A LECTURE ON THE MIXTURE OF CIVIL AND ECCLESIASTICAL POWER in the Middle Ages. By the Most Rev. JOHN HUGHES, D.D. 6¼

A LECTURE ON THE IMPORTANCE OF A CHRISTIAN BASIS FOR THE SCIENCE OF POLITICAL ECONOMY, and its Application to the Affairs of Life. By the Most Rev. JOHN HUGHES, D. D..... 6¼

A LETTER ON THE MORAL CAUSES THAT HAVE PRODUCED THE EVIL SPIRIT OF THE TIMES. By the Most Rev. JOHN HUGHES, D. D. 6¼

A SECOND LETTER ON THE MORAL CAUSES THAT HAVE PRODUCED THE EVIL SPIRIT OF THE TIMES. By the Most Rev. JOHN HUGHES, D. D.....6¼

The effect of these two memorable Letters on the public mind can never be forgotten. It was as salutary as it was signal. The public judgment, which had been whirled away in the dangerous and protracted excitement which preceded and followed the Philadelphia riots, was at length arrested and directed to the great principles which had been so long forgotten; a comparative calm succeeded a passionate agitation, the words of truth and persuasion were heard, and a mass of bitter prejudice was, if not wholly removed, greatly broken down and lessened.

DEBATE BEFORE THE COMMON COUNCIL, on the Catholic Petition respecting the Common School Fund. By the Most Rev. JOHN HUGHES, D. D. 6¼

A Story of the North of Ireland. By PAUL PEPPERGRASS, Esq. 1 volume 16mo. In half-cloth binding, 50 cents; full cloth, gilt backs, 75 cents.

"Shandy M'Guire" is emphatically a "Story of the North of Ireland." The plot is mainly laid in the heart of the county Donegal, and the characteristic life of that remote region is beautifully portrayed The fair and the fighting, the gauger and the illicit still —the Orangemen and Ribbonmen—the grasping agent and the suffering cottager—the Priest of the People, and the proselyting Minister of the Established Church, are all successfully and strikingly portrayed.

ANNIE AND HER AUNT. By a CONVERT. 18mo. 25 cents.

The Boston Pilot says:—"This is a good little story—quite suitable for Catholic children. Annie is a little Catholic girl who is thrown into Protestant society, and, of course, tempted in various ways to deny her faith, or to disobey the Church. She resists heroically, and she is rewarded at the end. We think that she was sufficiently scrupulous about the birthday party. But Annie is a good giri, and we cordially introduce her to our young readers.

SPLENDIDLY EMBELLISHED BY EMINENT ARTISTS AFTER THE GREAT MASTERS.

MOST REV. JOHN HUGHES, D.D., ARCHBISHOP OF NEW-YORK,

And honored with the patronage of most of the Archbishops, Bishops and Clergy of the United States and the Canadas.

☞ THE HOLY BIBLE, translated from the Latin Vulgate, diligently compared with the Hebrew, Greek, and other editions in various languages. The OLD TESTAMENT, first published by the English College at Douay, A. D. 1609; and the NEW TESTAMENT, first published by the English College at Rheims, A. D. 1582, with useful notes, Critical, Historical, Controversial and Explanatory, from the most eminent Commentators and able and judicious critics, by the Rev. GEO. LEO HAYDOCK, D. D.

EDWARD DUNIGAN & BROTHER respectfully inform the Catholic Public that they are publishing a new and superb edition of the Douay Version of the Sacred Scriptures; no attempt having hitherto been made to bring within the reach of the Catholics in America generally a Large Family Bible, with an approved and Comprehensive Commentary, at a moderate price, and accessible in its mode of publication. The Edition known as HAYDOCK'S has long been out of print, and was originally published at a price so very high, and in form so unwieldy, as to prevent its general circulation. It is the aim of the Publishers of the present edition to supply all deficiencies, by the issue in Numbers, of an Imperial Quarto Edition of the Douay Bible and Rheims New Testament, with a Comprehensive Commentary from the most able Divines, and at about one-fourth the cost of the original edition.

To produce a superb edition of the Bible suitable alike for the Library of the Learned as well as for the Family Circle, and combining at once an ample and convenient size, without encountering the cumberousness of the folio or the inelegance of the ordinary quarto, it has been determined to adopt for this work the Imperial Quarto Page, the dimensions of which are sufficiently capacious to admit great legibility, and of such pleasing proportions, as to obviate the objections so frequently urged against the folio and ordinary quarto.

The work was originally prepared for the press in 1811 by the Rev. GEO. LEO HAYDOCK, when it received the unanimous approbation of the Rt. Rev. Catholic Prelates of Great Britain and Ireland; and as a guarantee for the correctness and authenticity of this, the only COMPLETE and UNABRIDGED American edition now in course of publication, the Publishers present the following approbation of the Most Rev. Archbishop of New-York:—

"This new Edition of the English version of the BIBLE, with the complete notes of Bishop CHALLONER, Rev. GEORGE LEO HAYDOCK, and others, and known as HAYDOCK'S CATHOLIC BIBLE, having been duly examined, we hereby approve of its re-publication by Edward Dunigan & Brother of this city.

"Given at New-York, this 5th day of May, 1852, under our hand and seal.

✠ "JOHN, Archbishop of New-York."

This edition contains the most copious notes ever appended to any yet published in the English Language, and no expense has been spared to render it altogether the finest edition of the Sacred Scriptures yet presented to the American public. The paper is of the best description, type large, clear, and admirably adapted to the weakest vision, the letter-press carefully and accurately executed, and the illustrations Chefs d'œuvre of Art.

The object of the Publishers, in issuing this splendid edition, has been to supply a want long felt by the Catholic community of America, a Family Bible with an extensive Commentary, and at a price so moderate as to place it within the reach of all. To effect this desirable object, they are issuing it in Numbers, so that, in this way, every one can easily become the owner, in a comparatively short time, of one of the most superb Family Bibles and extensive Commentaries illustrative of the Text, ever published.

CONDITIONS:—The Work will be printed in Large Imperial Quarto Size, and contain about Seventeen Hundred Pages of Letter-press, printed on the finest White Paper, from new type cast expressly for this Edition; and will form one of the most magnificent Books ever published in this country, and be altogether the most correct and splendid Edition of the Sacred Scriptures with Comprehensive Commentary illustrative of the Text, ever issued in the English Language. The Illustrations will be more than Twenty of the most superb Engravings of the highest finish and beauty, by the most eminent Artists of the day, and be completed in Thirty-eight Numbers, at Twenty-five cents each, payable in all cases on delivery, and issued in rapid succession.

The Publishers feel confident in stating, that no Edition of the Scriptures equally beautiful in point of typography, superbly engraved illustrations, or elegance of form, has yet been offered to the public, and trust it will find among Catholic families, the Clergy, and the Laity generally, that extensive sale to which only it is obvious, at a price so very low, they must look for remuneration.

Some of the Critical Opinions of the Press,

OF DUNIGAN & BROTHER'S HAYDOCK'S UNABRIDGED BIBLE.

The sixth number of Dunigan & Brother's celebrated edition of Haydock's Catholic Family Bible is on our table, and though we had been led to imagine that it would be presented to the community in a style far surpassing any edition yet published, still we must confess that the work far exceeds our expectations. Haydock's Bible needs no word from us to insure it a wide and speedy circulation—it has been universally acknowledged to be the best edition extant; and we are pleased to see that the Catholics of the United States have within their reach an accurate, cheap, and beautiful edition."—New-York Truth Teller.

"This celebrated Family Bible is in the imperial quarto size, without any abridgment of the extensive commentaries of the distinguished Haydock. The work is brought out in the most superb style, equal to any work ever issued from the American press, and is the most complete and most elegantly executed edition of the Holy Scriptures that can be procured in the English language. Every family should seize this opportunity of obtaining at a very low price a copy of this superb Bible."—Baltimore Mirror.

"This splendid and cheap edition is published with the approbation of Archbishop Hughes of New-York. A finer edition of this Holy Book, with a Commentary as extensive, has never before been offered to the Catholic public, nor one so cheap or deserving of their patronage."—Pittsburg Catholic.

"We call the attention of our readers to the New Edition of the Holy Bible which Dunigan & Brothers are issuing in numbers. The first number is now before us, and it is truly one of the most beautiful specimens of typography that we have yet seen. It is a wonder how they can get up such a work for twenty-five cents a number. We consider this one of the greatest and most laudable undertakings, and trust it will be duly appreciated by the Catholic community. Judging by the specimen before us, the work will be magnificently executed, and constitute a gem of inestimable value."—Philadelphia Catholic Herald.

"A splendid edition of the Sacred Scriptures."—Boston Pilot.

"The most beautiful, complete, and accurate copy of the Book of Books ever offered to the Catholics of America."—American Celt.

"We hope no family will be without a Bible, while such a beautiful edition can be had so cheap."—Toronto Mirror.

"Dunigan & Brother's splendidly illustrated and unabridged edition of Haydock's Family Bible, contains the most copious notes ever appended to any as yet published in the English language, and no expense or labor is spared to render it altogether the finest edition of the Scriptures yet published in the United States."—Washington Republic.

"The specimens before us equal, in the taste displayed in the details of printing, paper, &c., the finest works yet issued from the press of this country, and the authenticity and correctness is vouched for by the approbation of the Most Rev. Archbishop Hughes."—New-York Literary World.

"In typography, paper, and elegance of mechanical execution throughout, this reflects the highest credit."—New-York Courier and Enquirer.

OF DUNIGAN & BROTHER'S HAYDOCK'S UNABRIDGED BIBLE.

"We have seen many copies of the Holy Book, but never one that exceeded this."—New-York Irish American.

"This magnificent publication, under the approbation of Archbishop Hughes, forms an epoch in the history of sacred publications. It is printed in a style of elegance wholly unsurpassed."—New-York News.

"The most elegant edition of the Bible ever published in this country, is the Douay Bible, now in course of publication by Edward Dunigan & Brother. It has a copious commentary and notes, and is especially recommended by Archbishop Hughes, of this city. In form, style, and beauty of paper and print, it has rarely been equalled by any work ever issued in this country."—New-York Sachem.

"Dunigan & Brother have commenced a magnificent publication, which we recommend to all Catholics, as well as amateurs of fine books. It is an English version of the Holy Bible from the Latin Vulgate, in a new form elegantly illustrated. The Archbishop of New-York, Monseigneur Hughes, has given his approbation to this new edition, and that dispenses with all eulogy in regard to the purity of the Text. But we can insist on the beauty of the typographical execution, which leaves nothing to desire."—New-York Courier des Etats Unis.

"This edition surpasses in elegance and correctness any thing yet produced in this line."—New-York Freeman's Journal.

"Published in a very handsome form, the Text in large and clear type, on fine white paper, and we hope will be extensively patronized."—New-York Churchman.

"This work is brought out in the most superb style, equal to any work ever issued from the American Press."—New-York Mirror.

"A superb Catholic Edition of the Bible."—New-York Book Trade.

"The notes are certainly most copious, and if published separate, would form a book containing twice as much reading matter as the Bible itself, and is a very creditable specimen of enterprise and skill."—New-York Evening Post.

"Beautifully printed and very superior illustrations. The typography and illustrations are elegant, and as an authorized Catholic Bible and extensive Commentary, we commend it to our Protestant readers."—Washington National Era.

"A splendid specimen of typography."—New-York Day Book.

"A superb specimen of typography, and is illustrated with engravings in the highest style of Art."—Harper's Monthly Magazine.

"Haydock's edition of the Bible has justly obtained the reputation of being the best Catholic edition of the Bible in the English Language. For the accuracy of the Text the reader has the authority of the Most Rev. Archbishop of New-York, under whose sanction this edition is published. For beauty of typography, and general excellence in mechanical execution, Dunigan & Brother's new and handsomely illustrated edition is not surpassed by any edition of the Bible that has appeared in Europe or on this Continent. The lowness of the price—25 cents a number—places it within the reach of almost all classes of society."—Montreal True Witness.

This translation from the French of the Abbe Orsini, who collected his facts from traditions of the East, the manners of the Israelites, and the writings of the Holy Fathers, is written in a peculiarly graceful and felicitous style. The most prominent events in the life of the Blessed Virgin; her seclusion in the gorgeous temple of Solomon; her laborious life in the picturesque village of Nazareth; her sufferings on Calvary; her wanderings with St. John, and death at Ephesus, are brought before the mind with more than the vividness of painting.

The Charleston Catholic Miscellany says: "This is truly a beautiful book."

The London Tablet says: "This is an opportune book, which has given us much pleasure. It conveys a holy and lovely idea, and we can be certain that some such life as this the Blessed Virgin must have led according to the circumstances related of her by a constant and harmonious tradition."

The London Rambler says: "This is a work of European reputation, and has received the highest testimonials of approbation from authorized judges."

NEW SPELLING BOOK, The best in the English Language.

THE PRACTICAL SPELLING BOOK.

By CHARLES JAMES CANNON. 12mo. Half bound, 168 pages, 12½ cents.

The great advantages possessed by the "Practical Spelling Book" over all other books now in use, is the fulness with which the Vowel and Diphthongal sounds are treated in its lessons, thus rendering the first steps toward knowledge comparatively easy, and the progress of the learner sure as well as rapid; and to this may be added another of hardly less importance, the relief afforded to the monotony of the spelling lessons by short exercises in reading, from the writings of those holy and practical men, St. Vincent de Paul, and St. Philip Neri, by which a needful recreation is provided for the young mind, and a moral strength imparted, which nothing in after life is likely ever to destroy.

The Baltimore Catholic Mirror says:—"Mr. Cannon has produced the most systematic and most excellent manual that we are acquainted with, for teaching the rudiments of the English Language. He begins with some explanatory remarks on the different sounds of the Vowels, Consonants, &c., and their value in various positions. He then proceeds to give lessons commencing with the letters of the alphabet, and extending to words of the greatest length, but the arrangement is such as to lead the pupil gradually step by step in the knowledge of Spelling and Reading—each particular sound of the Vowels and Consonants, together with the Diphthongs and Triphthongs, has a lesson for its illustration, and at the head of each lesson this sound is stated, in order to bring more forcibly to the learner's attention—another excellent feature is that every page contains one or more instructive sentences, intended not only to serve as lessons in reading, but to instil virtuous impressions into the minds of youth."

The book is commendable in other respects, and its merits are such that it should be adopted in all our schools for teaching the rudiments of the English tongue.

The Rahway Advocate says:—"We have not seen any elementary work which struck us as so admirably adapted to the purpose of giving children a thorough understanding of the nature and rules of Language as this PRACTICAL SPELLING BOOK. For truly practical it is. It does not attempt to follow the modern fashion of seeking "The Royal Road to Knowledge," but aims to give the child a thorough understanding of ideas, rather than merely to learn words by rote. We strongly commend it to the examination of teachers, and those interested in the education of youth."

GENERAL HISTORY OF EUROPE, from the beginning of the 16th century to 1840. 12mo. By the Ladies of New-Hall Convent, England,..... 75

No part of history is so essential for Catholics, and especially youth, as that which covers the three last eventful centuries. The swarms of books in our language which bear on it, are based on the philosophical theory that the Church of Rome is corrupt, and history is made to explain, develope, and inculcate this. Catholic youth are more or less contaminated by this idea. A great want is, a real history—a true one; and a better manual for this purpose cannot be recommended than this work, which has been admired and approved by most competent judges in England and America, no less for its fidelity than for the purity of its style.

EDWARD DUNIGAN & BROTHER'S

VALUABLE EDUCATIONAL PUBLICATIONS,

BY CATHOLIC AUTHORS.

THE CATHOLIC EDUCATIONAL SERIES.

LESSONS FOR YOUNG LEARNERS, No. 1 & No. 2.

To supply a want long felt and acknowledged, the want of School Books of a National character and a true Catholic spirit, the Subscribers have been urged to the present undertaking, and intend, under the above title, to publish a series of works designed for elementary instruction. Of this series, No. 1 and No. 2 are now ready, and in these it will be perceived that, while great pains have been taken to assist the learner in his attempts at mastering the rudiments of knowledge, the compiler, who is a Catholic gentleman of many years' experience in teaching, has endeavored to sow in the young mind the seeds of religion, which, it is hoped, will one day produce an abundant harvest of Christian virtues, without which all knowledge would be vain.

LESSONS FOR YOUNG LEARNERS. No. 1. 18mo. Strong Paper, 6¼ cts.
do do. do. No. 2. 18mo. Half-bound, 12½ cts.

Some of the Opinions of the Press.

The Pittsburg Catholic says:—"There was long a want seriously felt in the Catholic community in consequence of the difficulty, we may say impossibility, of placing in the hands of Catholic children any school book in general use, entirely free from attacks on their religion, and insults to their faith. The above Books, containing reading and spelling lessons, are of an Educational Series intended to supply this want; and as parents must provide school-books for their children, it becomes a duty to give the preference to those especially provided for them, and in doing so nothing is lost, but much gained: for, apart from other considerations, and viewed only as school-books, these are inferior to none, and far superior to the majority now in use."

Charleston Miscellany says:—"These two books of Lessons for Young Learners are not only admirably adapted for their purpose, as books of elementary instruction, by their good system, clear rules, and gradual progress from the easy to the difficult, but they are invaluable for their Catholic tendency—Prayers, Passages of Scripture, Portions of Bible History, narrated in a way to suit the capacity of children. Exquisite Hymns, Wood-cuts that combine good taste with piety, all conspire to impress strongly upon the young mind veneration for their religion."

Catholic Mirror says:—"We take pleasure in recommending them to the favorable attention of those who preside over our schools and academies. The arrangement is of a very practical character, and thoroughly Catholic—precisely the book needed for the instruction of Catholic children, and to make elementary education truly Christian in character."

OUTLINES OF HISTORY. For the use of Schools and Academies.

By PIERCE C. GRACE, Esq.

18mo. Cheap edition.....31¼ cents.
Neat half roan binding.....37½ cents.

The publishers deem themselves fortunate in being able to include in the "Catholic Educational Series" so invaluable a compendium of History as these "Outlines," the production of a Catholic layman of high literary character, which they are confident will be found far superior to most of the books now in use; for while in simplicity of arrangement and conciseness of expression it is hardly inferior to any book of the kind in the English language, the Catholic spirit which pervades the whole prevents those contradictions between the facts stated, and the strange opinions they are made to support, so apparent in most of the Histories intended for the use of Schools.

EDWARD DUNIGAN & BROTHER,

151 FULTON STREET, NEAR BROADWAY,

ARE RE-PUBLISHING WITH THE APPROBATION OF THE

MOST REV. JOHN HUGHES, D. D.,

ARCHBISHOP OF NEW-YORK,

THE NEW AND CHEAP CLIFTON TRACTS,

Now in course of Publication in London, by the Brotherhood of St. Vincent of Paul, under the sanction of the Bishop of Clifton, and with the approbation of Cardinal WISEMAN, and all the Catholic Bishops of England.

This Series of Tracts was originated with the view of supplying a want long and generally felt of a number of CHEAP single Publications, which, at the same time that they afforded useful reading to Catholics, and the numerous converts that from all sides are being gathered into the fold of the Church, might also furnish inquirers with a plain and simple statement of Catholic doctrine, principles, and practice, together with an exposure of Protestant errors, and a refutation of some at least among the many absurd and foolish charges brought against the Catholic religion.

Nothing ever written in the English language is so admirably adapted for general distribution, and for spreading a knowledge of the great truths of the Catholic religion, as this Series of Tracts, being written with rare ability and care, and in the best possible spirit of charity, zeal, and good taste, and it is hoped they will win their way into every family, as each Tract discusses in a masterly and condensed manner a single subject only. Their diversity, embracing as they do, Historical, Controversial, and Devotional Subjects, must render them also highly attractive not only to the Catholic but to the general reader. They are published in a neat and attractive style and form, with beautiful type and good paper, and sold so CHEAP in price that they can hardly fail to meet with a large circulation.

The London Rambler says:—"The matter so excellent and price so low that they must do incalculable good. There is something in the tone of these little essays, firm, cheerful, and tangible, most opposite to the morbid, gloomy excitement of the tracts, which have so long circulated among the intelligent of our poor, giving 'the 'orrors,' as we are told by Mr. Mayhew, to such as were entrapped into reading them—most opposite will be their effect, if these should get into a wide circulation."

The Catholic Miscellany says: "What surprises us is, that those handsome publications, printed in such neat style, can be sold for such a trifling sum as four and six cents each. We sincerely advise our Catholic friends who are thrown daily into the society of Protestants, and who are harassed by a multitude of controversial questions, sometimes put forth with a sinister purpose or in a spirit of candid inquiry, to purchase these tracts; and after perusing them, to lend them to their Protestant acquaintances. They will get more than the worth of their money, and will, besides their own advantage in the way of instruction, have the merit probably of being instrumental in guiding others to the wonderful light of God's kingdom, and silencing effectually many of those objections which are daily made to our more prominent doctrines."

The Philadelphia Catholic Herald says: "Dunigan & Brother are publishing a series of most valuable Catholic Tracts, in an exceedingly neat form, on subjects upon which every Catholic should be well informed, so as to be able to meet the objections of our dissenting brethren."

The New-York Truth Teller says: "These Catholic Tracts cannot be too strongly recommended. They have done good work in England, and are written with a vigorous, yet pleasing and cordial pen; and are as far removed from the venomous fanaticism generally found in tracts, as they are allied to good feeling and geniality."

The Philadelphia Catholic Instructor says: "We have not in a long time seen any small works from which larger advantage to Catholics may be derived, than this cheap series of Catholic Tracts, now in course of publication in a neat form by Dunigan & Brother. All Catholics in the habit of conversing with Protestants, and all Protestants anxious to discover truth, should read these."

HAVE JUST PUBLISHED IN THREE HANDSOME VOLUMES,

Crown Octavo—Price $2 50,

THE PRACTICE OF CHRISTIAN AND RELIGIOUS PERFECTION,

By Alphonsus Rodriguez, of the Society of Jesus.

"In this excellent work," says Alban Butler, in his Lives of the Saints, July 31st, "Rodriguez gathered and digested, in a clear and easy method, the most admirable maxims and lessons of the ancient monks; and having trained up, according to them, the novices of his order in Spain, died holily, in the year 1616, in the ninetieth year of his age."

No description can do justice to the merits of this valuable work, no estimate over-calculate the extensive good it has effected. Praised and studied by the most eminent Saints and Fathers of a spiritual life, it has been translated into the vernacular language of every polite nation in Europe. Digested and arranged with an ability and candor never surpassed, this work proves that the author possessed a perfect knowledge of the heart of men. He insinuates himself into its utmost recesses; he explores and lays open every avenue to inspection; he delineates the affections, describes the causes of the corruption, and displays the inward workings of the mind with such exquisite skill, precision, and clearness, that every reader who has departed from the ways of virtue, beholds an exact delineation of his defections, as if the book had been written for him alone. At the same time, he points out the grand and sublime contemplations which elevate the soul, and fix her attention immovably on the important truths of salvation, which he so accurately illustrates, so irresistibly inculcates.

This book contains within itself the germ of perpetuity, written to be read centuries hence—not destined, like the ephemeral productions of a day, to be read and forgotten—it still stands and will ever remain, a monument and model of Christian and Catholic morality, approximating in a closer degree to the morality of the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ than any other work that has yet emanated from the hand of man.

Benjamin; or, The Pupil of the Christian Brothers.

Translated from the French, by Mrs. J. SADLIER. 32mo. 250 pages. Price, 25 cents.

"The selection of this story is addition evidence of the good taste of Mrs. Sadlier, and of her right Catholic feeling. Benjamin is a boy who was thrown upon the world at a very early age, and who finally turned out well. The story is intended to illustrate the ease with which a good child is corrupted by bad companions,—the difficulty of winning him from evil courses, and the immense importance of a truly Christian education for the young. The system pursued by the Christian Brothers is fully vindicated in the little book. We recommend it. not only to children, but to the attentive consideration of parents."—Boston Pilot.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"We cordially congratulate the Catholics of the United States on the appearance of a work at once so important and interesting as Father De Ligny's Life of Christ. It is already widely known and appreciated on the continent of Europe, where it has long been prized as one of the most useful of devotional works. Mrs. Sadlier, to whom the Catholics of the United States are already much indebted for her valuable contributions to our Catholic literature, has rendered Father De Ligny's work into our tongue with singular felicity, and a nice regard to the original text. The work is superbly printed, and appears in parts, at the very low price of twenty-five cents per number. The steel engravings are done in the best style of the art, and are after designs by Rubens, Vandyke, De Caisne, Scheffer, and other eminent masters of the old school. We know no Catholic publication of more general utility, and really so cheap. It has already attained a wide circulation in Europe, and we doubt not but that it will be soon found in every Catholic home in the new world."—American Celt.

EXTRACT FROM THE AUTHOR'S PREFACE.

"I respectfully lay this humble volume at the feet of the Venerable Prelates and Clergy of the United States, not as worthy of their patronage, or even of their notice, but as a mark of filial reverence and submission, and of profound and lively gratitude for their kind encouragement, and generous and uniform support of my humble labours in the cause of Catholic truth.

"I would also inscribe it to my Protestant countrymen. They will find in it many reasons why I have ceased to be a Protestant, but none I hope, for believing that I have lost any of my former interest in them, or that their welfare here or hereafter is less dear to me than ever it was. My sympathies with my fellow-men, which, perhaps, are livelier and deeper than some suppose, have been quickened and expanded, not deadened and contracted, by my conversion to Catholicity. I have said nothing in the following pages in wrath; I have spoken only in love.

"Placing this volume, though all unworthy, with devout gratitude and tender love, under the protection of our Blessed Lady, as I do myself and all my interests, I send it forth to the public, hoping that it may contain a fit word fitly spoken for some earnest mind struggling to emancipate itself from error, and to burst into 'the glorious liberty of the children of God.'

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"This beautiful volume—beautiful in its subject, style, and typography—is No. 4 of 'Sadlier's Fireside Library.' It is the life of our Blessed Lady, as related in a dialogue and narrative carefully composed by the author, upon the data furnished by the Scriptures and Tradition. At first sight, we were disposed to doubt the propriety of thus dealing with a sacred subject. But on a careful and delighted reading of the book, we found so reverend a tone pervading it all, that, judging by its effects on our own mind, we do not hesitate to pronounce it a triumph of pious art. It is a book excellently adapted for Christmas presents to ladies; and while such a book can be had, we trust no Christian man will prefer to present his female friends the usual worthless and common trash, called 'Albums,' 'Gifts,' and 'keepsakes.'"—American Celt.

"We have to thank the Messrs. Sadlier for a copy of this beautiful little work, beautiful in its touching simplicity, and in the tender piety glowing on every page. It is the re-print of an English publication, and we hail its appearance in America with pleasure, believing that it is calculated to increase our love and our veneration for the Second Eve—the sweet Lily of Israel—the Mystical Rose of the New Law. Here we have laid open before us the hidden life of the Holy Family, the portraits being traced with consummate skill and intimate acquaintance with the manners and customs of the Hebrew people. Here we see how our Divine Redeemer, his blessed Mother, and the venerable St. Joseph, thought and spoke and acted, in the daily routine of this mortal life, and it is quite impossible for any one to read even one chapter without feeling his heart softened and refined. We have great pleasure in recommending the 'Lily of Israel' to our readers, and we are quite sure that every Catholic who reads it will endorse our recommendation."—Montreal True Witness.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"'Rome and the Abbey,' by the author of 'Geraldine.' Sadliers have just published this story; get it and read it—of course you will."—New York Freeman's Journal.

"'Rome and the Abbey' is the title of a new work by the authoress of 'Geraldine,' a tale which has enjoyed a very wide circulation in England and in the United States. We have not had time to read it, but, in turning over the leaves, we recognize the names of our old acquaintances in 'Geraldine,' from which we conclude that this is a continuation of that justly popular tale. The publishers are the Messrs. Sadlier of New York, who have issued it in the form of a well-bound, well-printed, and very creditable volume of something over 400 pages. We notice with pleasure the great improvement in the mechanical execution of Catholic publications within the last few years."—Shepherd of the Valley.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"New Lights; or Life in Galway, is an original tale by Mrs. Sadlier, and upon the whole the best and most finished of her powerful and most interesting tales in illustration of Irish history and Irish character. The New Lights are the converts to Protestantism obtained by soup and stirabout, and the story is intended to illustrate what is called the New Reformation in the West of Ireland. The characters are well drawn and clearly marked, and never, save in her rich and varied, and wholly unpretending conversation, have we ever seen Mrs. Sadlier to so great advantage as in the whole plan and conduct of this story. The work is marked by genuine Irish simplicity and archness, love of fun and touching pathos, violent passion and melting tenderness of heart, sweetness of temper, supernatural patience and resignation, strong faith and ardent piety. Mrs. Sadlier is a true Irishwoman, and has a most wonderful faculty of compelling us, even in spite of ourselves, to love and honor her countrymen and countrywomen. We recommend her book most warmly to all classes of readers, but especially to those who are pretending that Ireland is about to apostatize from the faith. An Irishman is no Irishman when not a Catholic."—Brownson's Review.

"Mrs. Sadlier is much admired as a writer of tales, and this new production of her gifted pen will be sought for with avidity. One of its aims is to expose the proselytizing efforts made in Ireland during the late famine."—Catholic Herald.

"Mrs. Sadlier has contributed many interesting volumes, original or translated, to the growing Catholic Library of America; but the last is the best of all. * * * We cordially recommend the work to all our readers."—American Celt.

"We have read this work with great satisfaction, and regard it as one of Mrs. Sadlier's best efforts. The picture of Irish sufferings and Irish firmness is true to life. It is a clear and true expose of the proselytizing system recently pursued in Ireland, by the establishment of Soup Houses and other tricks, to bribe the famishing poor from their ancient faith. * * * The Irishisms are correct, and display in the writer an intimacy with Irish character, which is rarely met with in books on Ireland. The work can be read with interest, profit and pleasure."—Baltimore Catholic Mirror.

"This is a new work the pen of a lady already well and most favorably known to the Catholic public throughout the world speaking the English language, and whose contributions to Catholic literature we always welcome with delight."—St. Louis Shepherd of the Valley.

"The question need not now be demanded, 'Have we an authoress among us?' for in truth we have; and one whose reputation occupies a more elevated position than the flood of trashy writers whose works now inundate our literature, and are lauded far beyond their merits by those who should know better. Mrs. Sadlier has written several well told tales; but we consider the present work the best she has produced."—Montreal Transcript.

"As a description of Irish character and manners, most graphic and true to nature, we cannot but speak in very high terms of 'New Lights.' We doubt not that this work will have an extensive sale."—Montreal Pilot.

"This tale is dedicated to the People of Ireland, and is written in a spirit of deep seated sympathy for their unfortunate condition. With regard to its peculiar religious tendencies, we have no opinion to express. As a merely literary production, it will add new lustre to the already high reputation of the gifted authoress. Some of the delineations are graphic in the extreme, and the dialogue throughout is truthful and dramatic."—Montreal Sun.

Doctrinal and Scriptural Catechism.

BY THE REV. PERE COLLOT, Doctor of the Sorbonne. Translated from the French, by Mrs. J. SADLIER. For the use of the Brothers of the Christian Schools.

This is considered by competent judges as the most complete, and at the same time, the most concise Catechism of the Christian Religion and of Scripture History that has yet been offered to the public. It is admirably adapted for adults requiring instruction as well as for children. The answers are all so condensed that they are easily committed to memory; and there is not a single point connected with religion, either of doctrine, discipline, or ceremonial, that is not fully explained.

We know that this work requires only to be known to secure for it a very wide circulation. In order to place the work within the reach of every person, we have determined to put it at the following prices. 12mo. 440 pages, half bound, 38 cents; muslin, 50 cents; to schools and colleges we will put them at $25 per hundred.

SUPERB NEW EDITIONS OF THE HOLY BIBLE.

From the Versions of Douay and Rheims, translated from the Latin Vulgate, and diligently compared with the Hebrew, Greek, and other editions in various languages. Published with the Approbation of the Most Rev. JOHN HUGHES, D. D., Archbishop of New York.

The Old Testament was first published by the English college at Douay, A. D. 1609; and the New Testament by the English college at Rheims, A. D. 1582. The paper is excellent, the type is large and beautiful, and it is the only new copy of the sacred volume published in this country. The proof sheets of this work have been read several times with the greatest care, and we are happy to inform those interested that a single error has not been detected, either by the Rev. clergy or editors who have examined the work. It is not necessary to enter into detail; suffice it to say, that this edition has the Table of References, Annotations, Historical and Chronological Indexes of the Old and New Testament, Table of Controversial References, comprising the scriptural texts applicable to all the principal controverted points, Table of Epistles and Gospels for all the Sundays and holydays throughout the year, and all the other tables usually contained in the sacred volume. The ILLUSTRATIONS, Twenty-six in number, several of which have been executed in London, are superior to any thing of the kind executed in this country. It has four Family Records, executed expressly for this work; and as regards the "getting up" of the work, it cannot be surpassed. In order to make this edition more valuable, it has appended to it Ward's Errata, revised and corrected from the last London Edition, to which are added the celebrated Preface by the Rev. Doctor Lingard, in answer to Ryan's Analysis; and a Vindication by the Right Rev. Dr. Milner in answer to Grier's Reply. This is very valuable to Protestants as well as Catholics, and to all those who wish carefully to examine and compare the Catholic and Protestant editions of the Bible."

Printed on the finest paper, with rules, and bound in Turkey, super extra, with rich ornamental gilding, and emblematical designs expressly executed for this work, also treble gilt clasps, morocco joints and corresponding panels, beautifully embellished after the antique style, altogether a most gorgeous Book, and well suited for a Marriage, Christmas, or Family present.

Pope and Maguire's Discussion.

Perhaps no discussion ever excited so much attention as this. Rev. Mr. Pope was an itinerant controversialist, who went about challenging the priests to come forth and defend the doctrines of their Church,—the Rev. Mr. Maguire accepted the challenge. Up to that time his name was scarcely known beyond the precincts of his parish, (which was situated in the mountains of Leitrim,) but after the discussion, "Father Maguire" became the most popular Priest in Ireland. Pope retired from the contest conscious of defeat, for he never challenged any more priests.

The second volume is addressed to the working classes, with a dedication to Sir Robert Peel, Bart. And Church of England's first foundation.

In which is shown some of the errors that are to be found in the Sacred Scriptures used by Protestants, against such points of religious doctrines as are the subject of controversy between them and the members of the Catholic Church, in which also from their mistranslating the twenty-third verse of the fourteenth chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, the Consecration of Dr. Matthew Parker, the first Protestant Archbishop of Canterbury, is occasionally considered. By THOMAS WARD, ESQ.

"It has been seldom that we have felt greater pleasure in bringing before the public, the notice of a new work, than we feel in calling its attention to the 'Orphan of Moscow.' * * * * The story is simple and touching, full of pathos, and stirring within us our noblest feelings. "New Books.—'The Castle of Roussillon, or Quercy in the 16th Century.' Translated from the French by Mrs. J. Sadlier. When the reading world is so completely inundated with a light and trashy literature, always full of loose and, not unfrequently, infidel tendencies, it is really refreshing—'tis in fact a green spot in the wilderness of modern book-making—when we alight upon a work of fiction like the above-named little volume, whose scenes of high dramatic interest are interwoven in the most graphic manner, with all that is noble and moral in humanity—when virtue triumphs over vice, gentleness and forbearance over hardened crime and abandoned villany. Unlike most French works on assuming the Anglo-Saxon dress, this would seem to have lost little of its original piquancy and raciness, in the hands of the fair translator. The typography is neat, and does credit to the publisher. For a holiday present, 'tis a cheap and very pretty gift."—Brooklyn Daily Advertiser.

"Catholic Tales.—1. The Orphan of Moscow; 2. The Castle of Roussillon. These are both translations from the French, by the accomplished Mrs. Sadlier, of Montreal. They are both highly interesting, especially the latter, which is one of the best of tales."—The Celt.

All the above Tales are from Real Life, having been witnessed by the Reverend Author during a long Missionary Career, in that Modern Babylon, London. It is not too much to say in its favor that it is worth a dozen of the modern "Gift Books."

Cloth, plain, 50 cents.

A New Treatise on the Duty of a Christian towards God;

Being an enlarged and improved edition of the original treatise. Written by the venerable J. B. DE LA SALLE, founder of Christian Schools. Translated from the French by Mrs. J. SADLIER. First American from the eighteenth Paris edition.

Half roan, 37½ cents.
School edition, per doz., $3.
For general use, fine paper, full cloth, neat, 50 cents.
Gilt muslin and edges, 75 cents.
Imitation Morocco, gilt edges, $1.

11,000 copies of this edition have been sold within the past year.

"The publishers have added to this volume prayers at mass, and rules of Christian politeness, which will be found an acceptable addition. We have not seen the work in the original French, and cannot speak of the fidelity of the translation, but from Mrs. Sadlier's reputation as a translator, we presume it to be no less faithful than spirited and tasteful. The work itself is used as a class book in the schools of the Christian Brothers in France and Canada, and has been translated at the request of the Christian Brothers, for the use of those of their pupils who speak the English language. It is an admirable class book for instruction in the Christian doctrine, and equally admirable for parents, who will refresh their own knowledge of their religion, and teach their children their duty to God. We wish it were adopted as a reading book in all our schools."—Brownson's Review.

This work now supplies the great want hitherto felt amongst the Catholics of the United States, of a book in which the service both of the forenoon and afternoon of the Sundays and principal Festivals of the year should be found, and which might serve at the same time, as a standard work for the regulation of the Music of Catholic churches in general; such a work must be productive of great good, and will tend to prevent the introduction into Catholic churches, of music neither appropriate, nor adapted to the solemnity of Divine Worship. To those desirous of studying Church Music, we can, with every confidence recommend it.

We are at liberty to state, that the present work has been compiled by the direction and under the immediate inspection of the Rt. Rev. Dr. Fenwick, Bishop of Boston. It was long the wish of that Rt. Rev. Prelate, and of the Rev. Clergy of his Diocese, to have a Catholic Choir-Book, in which the Service, both of the forenoon and afternoon of the Sundays and principal Festivals of the year, should be found, and which might serve, at the same time, as a standard work for the regulation of the Music in the choirs of all the Catholic churches in his Diocese. It was thought that such a work, properly executed, would be productive of very great good, as it would preclude the necessity of introducing into the choirs Music which is neither appropriate to the season, nor adapted to the majesty of the house of God, or to the dignity of Catholic worship.

"The compiler having observed for a long time the necessity of a cheap Singing Book, suitable for Catholic Singing Schools, and small choirs, has been induced to prepare this work, with the hope that it may be received with favor by those for whom it is intended; believing that, if properly executed, it would be productive of much good, and be of great advantage to Singing Schools and Societies.

As singing is considered of so much consequence at the present day, being taught and studied to a considerable extent in the common schools, Catholic children are in the habit of singing in these schools, hymns and songs used in Protestant worship, and when they go home, or are at play, they are singing them over, for want of a CHEAP CATHOLIC SINGING BOOK, to practise and amuse themselves in their leisure hours, and thus impart new vigor to the mind." The highest commendations have been bestowed upon this cheap and useful work, by the American Catholic Press.

This Manual contains, in addition to forms in general use, various devotions selected from approved Continental works. The Prayers, Litanies, &c., &c., have been collated with the Latin originals, wherever such works were known to exist. The English version of the Psalms here given, has been constructed by a comparison of the authorized Douay text (to which in substance it adheres), with the several other versions which from time to time have been sanctioned for the purpose of devotions. The Indulgenced Prayers have been literally translated from the Racotta, Bouvier's Treatise on Indulgences, and the last edition of the Celestæ Palmetuni. The particulars connected with the Confraternities, &c., to which Indulgences are attached, have been carefully collected from authorized sources, published with the approbation of His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman. NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

We have received, from the publishers, a copy of this excellent Prayer Book, and we cheerfully recommend it to our subscribers. We cannot do better than by copying a notice of it from the Dublin Review, for July, 1850, merely prefacing it, by stating that three hundred pages have been added by the American editor, adding greatly to the merits of the English edition.

"It may seem strange, that, after the numberless reprints of our old and long recognized prayer books, the many modifications of these books, and the equally numerous new compilations which have been issued from the Catholic presses of England, Ireland, and Scotland, during the last twenty years, there should still be room for a new compilation, entirely distinct from its predecessors, and in many respects independent of them all; nevertheless, 'THE GOLDEN MANUAL' will be found to realize this description. In the greater part of its contents it is, in the fullest sense of the word, to English readers, at least, an entirely new prayer book. There is a certain sense in which this character would be any thing rather than a recommendation. But the originality of the 'GOLDEN MANUAL' is of a perfectly unexceptionable kind. It does not consist in the introduction of new and unauthorized prayers, or in the arbitrary and unsanctioned modification of old ones; but in the adjustment of the received prayers and devotional exercises in accordance with the best and most authentic usage, and particularly in adopting uniformly, and without exception, the form of each particular prayer, which has been approved by the Holy See, and to which an indulgence has been specially attached.

"Another and most commendable characteristic of the 'GOLDEN MANUAL' is the large and frequent use it makes of the best, the holiest, and the most efficacious of all forms of prayer—those which the Church has consecrated by adopting them in her Liturgy. It has often been a subject of regret, that the faithful have been excluded by the want of the necessary Service books, from the edification and instruction, as well as the actual incentives to piety, which are supplied by the public services of the Church ritual; and the want has been especially painful in those portions of the ritual which regard the administration of the Sacraments. What prayers for the sick, for instance, for the dying, can be compared in tenderness, in unction, in impressiveness, and, we must of course add, in intrinsic virtue, with those of the Holy Viaticum, the Extreme Unction, and the Last Benediction? How would it be possible to devise a form of preparation for Confirmation, so calculated to strike the young imagination, and to touch the tender heart, as that, which, in the Church's own words, describes the communication and in-dwelling of the Holy Spirit? And hence it is that we have ever desired to see the magnificent services of the Roman ritual placed within the reach of every Catholic, and made familiar to the humblest of the faithful, not alone in the spirit and in the graces which they confer, but in the very words and forms in which they are administered.

"We welcome, with very peculiar satisfaction, that portion of the Manual which concerns the use and administration of the Sacraments, and the preparation of the faithful for duly receiving them. Besides all the Ordinary Devotions and Instructions, it contains the actual serving of the administration of Baptism, Confirmation, the Eucharist, Extreme Unction, and Marriage, both in Latin and English; and in these, as well as all the other Church Services introduced into the work, we cannot speak in terms of too high commendation of the accuracy, simplicity, tastefulness, and solemnity of the translation.

"Another very important novelty in the 'GOLDEN MANUAL' is the introduction of a variety of most useful prayers and devotional exercises, which, though unknown to Catholics in these countries, are, and long have been, familiar on the Continent. Many of these are translated from the admirable Colesto Palmetum of Naketenus, and from the Libellus Precum, but a large number also are from the Italian. And in these also, especial attention has been paid to the devotions to which indulgences are attached, on all of which, full and satisfactory explanations are given. The collection of Litanies, also, is extremely full and complete.

"In the various Hymns and Sequences, Mr. Caswell's admirable translations are adopted."

The Book is elegantly bound, and the illustrations are very finely executed.—Montreal True Witness.

"This is a reprint from an English Manual approved by Cardinal Wiseman, with large additions by the American editor. It is the largest and most complete manual of devotion we are acquainted with. It contains a great variety of devotions, adapted to almost every occasion and to every taste, and, as far as we have examined it, selected with judgment and true devotional feeling. We know of little, except in devotions before and after communion, that we could desire to have added, and we have met with nothing in it that we wish to have omitted. It is due to the publishers to say that the copy before us is well printed, and richly bound. It contains numerous illustrations, several of which are executed with much artistic skill and taste. There is no occasion to commend this Golden Manual to the public, for it is approved by the Most Rev. the Archbishop of New York, and is sure to become, and deservedly, a great favorite with devout Christians."—Brownson's Quarterly Review for July, 1851.

"Many excellent prayer books have, during the last few years, made their appearance among us; but the one now before us, appears destined to carry off the palm of superiority. It is certainly the most complete manual of public and private devotion that we have yet seen. Indeed, we know not how it could be rendered more perfect, as it appears to contain every thing that one could desire for such a use, whether at home or at church. We do not hesitate to pronounce it the ne plus ultra in the prayer-book line. The book contains over 1000 pages, but it is so compactly put together as to bring it within moderate size. It is got up too in a style corresponding to its great intrinsic excellence. Its typography, illustrations, binding, &c., are all of superior quality. The copy which the publishers have sent us is truly an exquisite specimen of the high state of perfection to which the book-making art has been carried.

"All who desire to have a perfect prayer book should furnish themselves with a copy of the Golden Manual. It may be had at the Catholic bookstores, and at St. John's Orphan store."—Philadelphia Catholic Herald.

"THE GOLDEN MANUAL has just been published by the Sadliers of this city, in a very complete and elegant volume. We think this prayer book is destined to have a very large sale. It is one of the largest, if not the largest, in the English language, and has some features not to be found in any other of our best prayer books. Among these are some additions of popular devotions, and some of the new and beautiful translations of Ecclesiastical hymns, sequences, &c."—New York Freeman's Journal.

WORKS ON IRELAND.

P. 50 cts.

THE

HISTORY OF IRELAND,

Ancient and Modern.

Taken from the most authentic records, and dedicated to the Irish Brigade, by the ABBE MACGEOGHEGAN. Translated from the French by PATRICK O'KELLY, ESQ., with four fine Steel Engravings. This important national history is printed in clear type, on fine paper, with marginal lines, and has been most favorably reviewed by the American and European Press.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

"Our citizens have now a most favorable opportunity of supplying themselves with the best History of Ireland extant. There are several works devoted to the subject, but some are corrupt, others bigoted, many incomplete and inaccurate. We may say of Keating, Leland, Plowden, Taylor, Moore, Smiles, &c., that their histories are defective or incomplete. Common consent seems to have fixed upon the work of the Abbé MacGeoghegan as the best. The author was chaplain of the illustrious 'Irish Brigade,' a patriotic son of Ireland, and an accomplished scholar of polished and unusual acquirements. He had the best opportunities and full leisure in the French capital for the formation of his history. It is considered a work most faithful and honest, accurate in detail, liberal, patriotic, and high-toned in sentiment, and more complete than any other History of Ireland that we possess."—Freeman's Journal.

The late lamented Thomas Davis, in an Essay on Irish History, speaks of this work as follows:—

"Well, as to this National History—L'Abbé MacGeoghegan published a history of Ireland in French, in 3 vols., quarto, dedicated to the Irish Brigade. Writing in France, he was free from English censorship—writing for 'The Brigade,' he avoided the impudence of Huguenot historians. The sneers of the Deist, Voltaire, and the lies of the Catholic Cambrensis, receive a sharp chastisement in his preface, and a full answer in his text. He was a man of the most varied acquirements, and an elegant writer. For the student of Irish History it is the best book in the world. He is graphic, easy, and Irish. He is not a bigot, but apparently a genuine Catholic. His information as to the number of troops and other facts of our Irish Battles, is superior to any other general Historian, and they who know it well need not blush, as most Irishmen must now, at their ignorance of Irish History."

The Rise and Fall of the Irish Nation.

THE RISE AND FALL OF THE IRISH NATION, by Sir JONAH BARRINGTON, one of his Majesty's counsel at law, judge of the high court of admiralty of Ireland, and member of the late Irish parliament for the cities of Tuam and Clogher. The work contains much valuable information and interesting matter never before published, sketches of the leading members of both sides who figured so conspicuously during that memorable epoch of Irish history. It also contains the red and black list, showing the bribery and corruption by which the Union was carried. The work is a handsome royal 12mo. volume of 472 pages, beautifully printed on fine paper, with portraits of the Author, Fitzgerald, Curran, Grattan, and other distinguished personages on both sides, in all 29 miniature portraits on Steel.

The above work is admitted by competent judges, to be one of the most beautiful productions of the day. It was sold in Dublin, when first published, at $10. Such is its intrinsic merits, that it has been admitted by the Superintendants of Public Schools, into the District School Libraries of the various States. No Irishman, who is desirous of becoming acquainted with that epoch of his country's history—the rise of the volunteers—the declaration of rights—and the debates connected with that tyrannous act, the Legislative Union; should fail to possess a copy of this admirable work.

Beautifully printed, large type, $2.
Imitation Morocco, embossed, comb edges, full gilt back, $1.50.
Full muslin, embossed, gilt back, $1.
Sheep, lettered, $1.

"'The Rise and Fall of the Irish Nation,' is one of the most picturesque and eloquent books in the whole range of our language. Its sketches of political scenes and characters, are, without comparison, the most life-like we know. It is a treasure of a book; one we would not exchange for any ten National books we have."—American Celt.

Valentine McClutchy.

VALENTINE McCLUTCHY, the Irish Agent; the Chronicles of Castle Cumber; together with the Pious Aspirations, Permissions, and other Sanctified Privileges of Solomon McSlime, a Religious Attorney. By WILLIAM CARLETON.

In this work Mr. Carleton has depicted the wrongs and sufferings of his countrymen—their patience and forbearance under their sufferings. And in the character of Valentine McClutchy, he shows the villany practised by the agents of absentee landlords, upon those tenants who are so unfortunate as to hold lands from them.

And as a specimen of a religious Attorney, we would challenge creation to produce a more correct picture than that drawn by Carleton of Solomon McSlime. We venture to say that there is not an Irishman, who would read ten pages of the work, that would be without it for ten times the cost.—Full muslin, embossed, gilt back, 75 cents.

Half roan, embossed, 50 cents.

At the instance of several of the Prelates of the late National Council, Murphy & Co. have made an arrangement with Mr. Hanicq, the eminent Catholic Publisher of Mechlin, by which they will keep a constant supply of the "RITUALE ROMANUM" entire, as approved by Benedict XIV. This edition is printed on fine paper, from a clear, bold type, in red and black; it contains the Musical Notes for several Antiphons, Psalms and Hymns adapted to the more solemn offices. It appears most desirable that every church be furnished with a copy, which the American publishers are prepared to supply at a very low price. The sizes such as Missionaries might, without inconvenience, carry on their missions.

Revised, Enlarged, and Adapted to General Use.

APPROBATION OF THE MOST REV. ARCHBISHOP OF BALTIMORE, AND THE RIGHT REV. BISHOPS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Pittsburg, April 24, 1848. † MICHAEL, Bp. of Pittsburg.

St. Vincent's Manual is an Encyclopedia of Devotional Exercises, more complete, we think, than any Prayer Book, in any language. † JOHN BAPTIST, Bp. of Cincinnati.

I fully concur with the Most Rev. Archbishop, and other prelates above mentioned, in approving and recommending St. Vincent's Manual. † IGNATIUS ALOYSIUS REYNOLDS, Bp. of Charleston.

Toronto, 6th January 1851

Montreal, Oct. 11, 1850.
We approve St. Vincent's Manual, and recommend it to the faithful of our Diocese, as a book well adapted to nourish their piety. We have added to the table which exhibits the days of fast, of abstinence, and of obligation in the United States, that which is observed in the Diocese of Montreal. † IG., Bishop of Montreal.

BRIEF EXTRACTS FROM NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

"Without exception this is by far the best Catholic Prayer Book in our language. It was originally prepared for the use of the Sisters of Charity; and in adapting it for general use, such additions as the WAY OF THE CROSS, the prayers of BONA MORS, MEDITATIONS FOR EVERY DAY IN THE MONTH, the SCAPULAR, LIVING ROSARY, MONTH OF MARY, &c., give it that standard value that will make this the most popular of all our excellent prayer books." Phila. Cath.

"The work is neatly executed; and for intrinsic merit, as a manual and collection of devotions, we would give it the preference over any other that we know in English. Our reasons are, its greater variety of exercises, and especially its large number of LITANIES. Freeman's Journal.

"The excellence of this prayer book consists in the accuracy which characterizes its various parts, and in the numerous prayers and instructions which have been introduced into it. It contains full explanations of all the principal observances of Catholic piety, and of several devotions which have never been published in any other English prayer book, for instance, the MONTH OF MARY, the LIVING ROSARY, the ARCH-CONFRATERNITY FOR THE CONVERSION OF SINNERS, RULE OF LIFE FOR A PIOUS CHRISTIAN, &c. The Prayers before and after Communion and Confession are very copious, and the Litanies are numerous. One of the most useful additions to the work is the Burial Service in Latin and English for children and adults, which will enable those who assist at that ceremony, to follow the officiating clergyman. The Psalms and other devotions for the evening service of the church are arranged to suit the different festivals that occur during the year. In short, this Manual may truly be said to be the most comprehensive book of the kind that has ever been issued from the press in this country. It is very handsomely executed, and is embellished with several fine Engravings. Let all purchase this book, who wish to be provided with a complete manual of Catholic piety." U. S. C. Magazine.

"Mr. Murphy, of Baltimore, has just issued a new Catholic Prayer Book, which we pronounce without fear of contradiction to be the best which has yet come within our knowledge. It is beautifully got up—printed with new type, on excellent paper—illustrated with several fine engravings, and illuminated title—presents on plates, &c. and can be had in any kind of binding." Truth Teller.

DR. DIXON'S CELEBRATED WORK ON THE SACRED SCRIPTURES.

A General Introduction to the Sacred Scriptures, in a Series of Dissertations, Critical, Hermeneutical, and Historical. By the Rev. Joseph Dixon, D. D., Professor of Sacred Scripture and Hebrew in the Royal College of St. Patrick, Maynooth, (now Archbishop of Armagh, and Primate of all Ireland.) Illustrated with Map of Palestine ...8vo. cloth 2 50 .....Library style 3 00

This work is comprised in one volume, of about 500 pages 8vo., embellished with a Map of Palestine. It is carefully printed from a good, clear, bold type, substantially bound in cloth lettered, and sold at less than one-half the price of the Dublin edition.

"Of the great value of such an 'Introduction to the Sacred Scriptures,' it is not our province to speak. We will only observe that, as the study of corrupt versions of the sacred writings is the chief pursuit of thousands, and as frequent editions of the true Bible are and have long been printed in English, it becomes highly important to have a safe and intelligible commentator on the same shelf with the inspired, but often obscure and unintelligible texts. Whoever has a Family Bible in English should have 'Dixon's Introduction' by its side, to explain the text, to direct the reader, and to refute the historical calumnies with which many are apt to assail the Catholic version. The Publishers, in offering such a work, accurate enough for the scholar, yet clear enough for the unlearned, have supplied a void in every Catholic library, and done every Catholic parent in America a personal service." American Celt.

"It is certainly a valuable general introduction to the study of the Sacred Scriptures, if not for the more advanced scholars, at least for our seminaries and the general reader. It is, so far as our language is concerned, a most important contribution to sacred literature. We welcome it, as we do the excellent Biblical writings of the learned Archbishop of Baltimore, most heartily, not only for its positive merits, but for the new spring it will give in our mother country and among ourselves to sacred literature, which has for a long time been much neglected. We thank the most reverend author for his work, and we thank also Messrs. Murphy & Co. for their very neat and convenient American edition of it." Brownson's Review.

The Dublin Review, in noticing this work at its first appearance, says: "Dr. Dixon has given us the first Catholic Introduction to Scripture, which has appeared in our language, and has performed his task in a manner that reflects high credit on the office which he holds, and the place in which he occupies it."

"The work will no doubt have a general sale amongst intelligent Catholics. We know of no other work in English on the same subject to which the Catholic student of Scripture can have recourse." Shepherd of the Valley.

The Power of the Pope in the Middle Ages; or, Historical Researches into the Origin of the Temporal Sovereignty of the Holy See, and on the Constitutional Law of the Middle Ages relative to the Deposition of Sovereigns, preceded by an Introduction respecting the Honors and Temporal Prerogatives accorded to Religion and its Ministers by Ancient Nations, particularly under the first Christian Emperors. By M. GOSSELIN, Director of the Seminary of St. Sulpice, Paris. Translated by the Rev. MATTHEW KELLY, Professor of French and Belles-Lettres, St. Patrick's College, Maynooth,..... 2 vols. 8vo cloth lettered $3 75

"Perhaps no work could be more opportunely presented to the English and American public than this. The Temporal Power of the Popes during the Middle Ages has been so intimately blended with the public law, and acts of the civilized world, as to form an inseparable part of its history; and no student of either the period referred to, or of that of the present time, who closes his books without viewing, through a correct medium, that history, from Rome as the stand-point and centre of influences, which have swayed movements of the most vital importance, can ever appreciate those momentous questions upon which the peace, and it may be the salvation of the world, has so often, and may yet again, depend. The English and American publishers therefore do well to furnish us with such books. It is the duty, and let it be the care of all Christians, who can do so, to disseminate them, that a too long abused public may be set right upon what so intimately concerns their present and their everlasting peace." Cath. Weekly Instructor.

On Fashions. Translated from the French of Father Boone, S. J. 16mo., flexible cloth. 12½

"This is a small book, but it has a great spirit, and is one which we recommend all parents to read and study, and all fashionable people to commit to memory. It is painful to reflect how many souls are ruined by what passes for fashionable dress, or what is more properly denominated undress." Brownson's Rev.

Cardinal Wiseman's Essays on Various Subjects;
3 vols. 8vo. cloth lettered 6 50

The learned Dr. BROWNSON says: "It is difficult to speak of these Essays in language which to those who have not carefully read them, will not seem to be exaggerated. They are marked by great clearness of apprehension and expression, depth and originality of thought, a rich imagination, a cultivated taste, and a tender devotional spirit. We have in them great artistic beauty, high appreciation of the æsthetic, and a strong disposition to press into the service of religion sensibility, taste, and imagination, but we have nothing weak, morbid, or fanciful, and all is strong, healthy, and robust, under the regimen of good sense and enlightened devotion. We are pleased, delighted, charmed, as we read them, and at the same time enlightened, elevated, and invigorated."

"It is entirely unnecessary to say anything in commendation of these volumes. The productions of their illustrious author are too well known and admired to require more at the hands of the press, than the simple announcement that they have emanated from the pen of Cardinal Wiseman. His writings hold, deservedly, a conspicuous place in every Catholic library, and to be able to add to them will, we are sure, give pleasure and profit to Catholic readers. The typographical execution of the work is very good. It is printed on large, clear type, so as to be read without effort. We hope our readers will secure copies of the work, and show, as heretofore, their appreciation of the labors of its illustrious author." Pittsburg Catholic.

"We wish these volumes a most extensive sale. The introduction of such works amongst us, should be the dawning of a better day for Catholics."
Shepherd of the Valley.

THE TRUE HISTORY of the ITALIAN REVOLUTIONS!

A Thrilling Historical Tale of unprecedented interest!

The Jew of Verona: a Historical Tale of the Italian Revolutions of 1846-9. Translated from the Second Revised Italian Edition.—2 vols. 12mo., with a Portrait of the Jew; . . cloth, gt. backs, $2

The translation and publication of this work has been undertaken at the urgent solicitation of some of the Rt. Rev. Bishops and other eminent Catholic gentlemen, who had read the work in the original Italian, and who were desirous of having it circulated amongst the Catholics of the United States, that they might be made familiar with the True History of the Italian Revolution and the movements that led to this extraordinary event, which has been so little understood, owing to the determined and combined efforts of the sectarian and secular press, and their emissaries, in the circulation of the most exaggerated mis-statements of the facts as they occurred, and the secret influences that were exerted towards its accomplishment. The nature of the incidents which it narrates is such as necessarily to arrest the attention and engage the interest, not only of Italians, but all Catholic readers—and so popular was the work on its first appearance, owing to its truthfulness and exactness of detail, as well as by the extraordinary beauty of its style, that it obtained the approval and admiration of even the enemies of the cause which it advocates, and became one of the most popular works ever issued in Italy.

This work is from the pen of the Rev. Father Bresciani, S. J., the distinguished editor of the Civilta Cattolica, published in Rome, and one of the most eminent writers of Europe. The author, who was an eye-witness of many of the events which he relates, gives a truthful history of the convulsions of Europe, and more especially of the scenes of devastation committed in Italy and in Rome, from the death of Gregory the Sixteenth to the attack on the Quirinal Palace and the flight of Pope Pius the Ninth.

The principal object of the author in preparing the work, was to expose the wicked tendency and the treacherous designs of the secret societies. Of these nefarious associations, he draws the most vivid picture. He removes the dark cloud which envelopes them, and exhibits them in all their hideousness.

The ultimate tendency of secret societies is every where the same. The truth of this remark may be gathered from the language of Mazzini himself, the arch-leader of the secret societies of Europe. In a letter or circular addressed to his followers in 1846, he says: "Secret Societies give a power that is perfectly irresistible to the party on whose side they are enlisted. Be not alarmed, if you see them split into several divisions; the more the better; they all tend to the same end, only they take different roads."

With such admissions from a source so reliable, how important is it for our own citizens, more particularly for the Catholic, to pause for a moment and consider these truths, especially at a time when secret societies overspread the land; at a time, when the aspirant to political honors, in order to attain the goal of his ambition, is frequently compelled to bind himself by the most solemn vows, to carry out the foul and impious designs of certain secret associations: associations whose open and undisguised object is hostility to the Catholic Church, and opposition to Catholic emigration: associations, which under the pretence of "liberty," "progress," "enlightenment," tend to supplant revealed religion, and when developed, may re-enact upon the shores of America, the bloody deeds of the Red-republicans of France and Italy, and the Radicals of Switzerland. And as the design of the Jew of Verona was to open the eyes of the young men of Italy to the horrors of secret societies, may we not indulge the hope that it may accomplish the same desirable object among the youth of America? May they learn from its truthful pages to avoid the snares laid for their destruction by the innumerable secret associations by which they are surrounded.

But the warning voice which it raises against secret societies, is only one of the many merits of the work. The danger of bad books, their corrupting influence over the minds of the young, is distinctly marked out. They are the ready vehicles in the hands of secret societies for disseminating their pernicious doctrines, and of ultimately accomplishing their nefarious ends.

It is superfluous to add a single word in reference to the character and the evil tendency of this class of literature in our own land, where perhaps it has acquired a wider circulation and is read with more avidity than in any other country in the world.

The true character of Mazzini, of Kossuth, of Lola Montes, and of other prominent actors in the late convulsions of Europe, and even that of "Father Gavazzi," is unfolded in the truthful pages of the Jew of Verona; and as many of these noted personages have visited our shores, and are at the present moment disseminating in our midst their poisonous principles, it is important that the public should know their history and understand their characters.

The brilliancy and vivacity of its style, the beauty and delicacy of its description, charm the reader and throw around its pages a fascinating influence, which renders it a work of unprecedented interest.

1500 COPIES SOLD THE FIRST MONTH.

Justo Ucundono, Prince of Japan. By Philalethes..12mo. cloth 75

The publishers have the pleasure to announce that this work has met with a very cordial reception, and an extensive and unprecedented sale, for an original American Work by an unknown author. That the public may judge of its merits, we respectfully submit the following extracts from notices of the Press, in various sections of the country:

"It is not a romance, as one might suspect from the title; but a complete synopsis of all that a Christian should believe from the existence of God down to the infallibility of the Catholic Church. There is barely a shadow of a story, just sufficient to aptly introduce the various interlocutors, who explain in turn their respective points of natural and revealed religion. The author's object is to show how an artless, unprejudiced mind, starting on the simplest first principles, if guided by reason and God's grace, must necessarily reach the fulness of truth that exists in the Catholic Church. The first truth correctly understood must lead to the last, for they are bound together by essentially indivisible links. Hence the book may be styled a popular compendium of all dogmatic Theology, as one of our cotemporaries happily calls it. The style is agreeable and frequently eloquent; indeed, if we were disposed to find any fault, we could say no more than that it is occasionally too ornate. The author (we are not, we believe, at liberty to give his name) has made an excellent beginning; and if he continues to turn his talent in this direction, will assuredly win his way to eminence amongst our Catholic writers." Catholic Miscellany.

"A book of rare merit, profound reasoning, and of extensive philosophical and theological research. It may be read with equal profit by all Christian denominations, being a powerful defence of our common Christianity against irreligion, indifferentism, and every other evil. The work is written in a clear, forcible, and most attractive style. It seems peculiarly adapted for the use of the young. No one can read the work without being pleased with it." Boston Daily Times.

"The work is an able one—displaying much philosophical research and sound argument. It is, withal, interesting and pleasing, combining the "utile cum dulce," and cannot fail to be very generally circulated." Truth Teller.

"Who ever would be stopt from reading this comprehensive volume on all Religion, by such barbarous and not happily chosen names as Jaco, Fugurundono, Nobunango, would lose a treasure of more than ordinary value. To be convinced of this, we recommend to all to procure the book, read it, and judge for themselves. A few slight blemishes of style, betraying a foreign origin, are amply expiated by passages of rare beauty, genuine eloquence, and sound instruction." Cat. Telegraph.

"The story supposes a young Pagan carefully kept by his father from all sort of religious instruction until he arrives at manhood. Various religious systems are then proposed to him by their several apostles, and the result is his conversion to the Catholic faith. The work is written in an excellent spirit, by a gentleman well capable of doing justice to such a subject. It reads well, and will do good. We hope it may meet with a ready sale." Shepherd of the Valley.

THE GREAT HISTORICAL CATHOLIC STORY!

By Paul Peppergrass, Esq., Author of "Shandy Maguire."

The Spæwife, or the Queen's Secret: a Tale of the Times of Queen Queen Elizabeth. By Paul Peppergrass, Esq., author of "Shandy McGuire." With 6 fine illustrations.....2 vols. 12mo. cloth 1 50

The publishers have the pleasure to announce that this work has already met with an extensive sale, and has been received with universal favor by the press and the public, throughout the country. In England it has been most favorably received—and is destined, according to the statements of the English press, to become a standard popular work.

The learned Dr. Brownson, in noticing this work, says: "The work itself is one of high pretensions as an historical novel, and has been elaborated with great care and pains, by an author who is already advantageously known to our public, and from whom we have much to expect. It has been favorably received, generally commended by the Catholic press, and men whose literary tastes and judgments we are bound to respect have pronounced it a master-piece of its kind. It is written with ability, and is certainly a very interesting production."

The London Catholic Standard says: "The 'Spæwife" is the production of the author of the work 'Shandy Maguire.' It is an historical novel of the time and reign of Queen Elizabeth, and portrays the character of that great enemy of Catholicity in the most masterly manner. The main interest of the narrative rests on the guilty fears of that sovereign, consequent on her more than suspicious intimacy with her profligate favorite, Dudley, Earl of Leicester. There has been a painful uncertainty which has existed ever since those days as to the result of that connection between Elizabeth and Leicester. Ellis (in his 2 Ser., III, 136) alludes to the strong probability that the honor of the 'virgin' Queen was more than tainted. The manuscripts preserved at Simanacas follow in the same track of condemnatory evidence; and Lingard, in a most important note, establishes a pretty clear presumptive proof, that the periodical illnesses of the Queen were the result of her unhappy and disgraceful attachment to Leicester. The author of the 'Spæwife' builds his story upon these presumed facts, without the slightest touch of pity for his hapless heroine. The narrative is vigorous, full of romantic incident, and the persecution of the helpless, unoffending Catholics, told with a pen of fire. It will be read with interest, and we have no doubt will soon become a popular and standard work."

The London Rambler, in noticing this work, says: "When we add that the book is from the same pen as 'Shandy Maguire,' they will know that there can be no lack of interest either in the subject or in the mode of handling it."

"In this work there are some scenes which we venture to say are unequalled since the days of Gerald Griffin, by any Catholic writer of fiction. We refer, as a proof of this, to that noble scene in the hiding place of the recusants—'Whinstone Hollow'—where Alice Wentworth meets with a disguised uncle, in one of the proscribed priests, so common then in England. For dramatic power, we have not seen its equal in many a day." Catholic Miscellany.

"The book, as the author tells us in his preface, is 'neither religious nor controversial, but a plain story for plain people,—not in the least dangerous to faith or morals,' and intended as the principal ground of a vindication of Mary Stuart in another story designed to form the sequel to this. It is much more than this however. It is a highly entertaining and well written tale, and, together with the promised sequel, will do much, we entertain no doubt, towards disabusing people of the false ideas of Elizabeth and Mary, which they derive from those stereotyped fictions that are taken for history in our time. We heartily recommend the book to our readers as instructive and entertaining. Historical tales of this character do real good: and the talented author has put the Catholic public under fresh obligations to him by his just completed work." Shepherd of the Valley.

NEW WORKS IN PRESS.

Will be published early in 1854, in an 8vo. volume of about 700 pages.

AN ABRIDGMENT OF

LINGARD'S HISTORY OF ENGLAND,

WITH A CONTINUATION FROM 1688 TO 1853.

By JAMES BURKE, Esq. Barrister at Law.

We believe that it will be at once conceded, that at no period has it been of more importance than at the present, to place before the American public a true and impartial history of England.

No apology need therefore be made for the publication of an abridgment of Dr. LINGARD'S history of England, at a price that will at once place it within the reach of all classes.

No historian ever more faithfully adhered to facts, or more laboriously investigated truths, than Lingard. His care in avoiding sectarian prejudice has been universally admitted by the bitterest enemies of our creed, while, on the other hand, no Catholic can but feel, that those who have endeavored to pervert history to the purposes of maligning his creed, have been proved by the great Lingard, even from Protestant authorities, to have written that which was not the truth.

Although Lingard's England has been nearly half a century before the public, not one fact stated by him has been proved to be erroneous, while the critics of all creeds have joined in expressing their approbation of his great work.

In style without a superior, in truthfulness without an equal, Lingard stands before the historic student as the model of what an historian should be.

Macaulay may be more picturesque, Gibbon more stately, Hume more astute; but Lingard is an example to all who would narrate the story of a great nation.

Having thus spoken of the style of Lingard, it is right to add that the student will find that the ipsissima verba of the great Catholic historian of England have been religiously preserved in the Abridgment.

Not only is Lingard a true historian, but he has pointed out to others how they may attain the same proud place, here is his own emphatic language on the subject of the duties of an historian:

"Admit no statement merely upon trust, but weigh with care the value of the authorities on which I rely, and watch with jealousy the secret workings of my own personal feelings and prepossessions. Such vigilance is a matter of necessity to every writer of history, if he aspire to the praise of truthfulness and impartiality. He must withdraw himself aloof from the scenes which he describes, and view with the coolness of an unconcerned spectator the events which pass before his eyes, holding with a steady hand the balance between contending parties, and allotting to the more prominent characters that measure of praise or dispraise which he conscientiously believes to be their due. Otherwise, he will be continually tempted to make an unfair use of the privilege of the historian; he will sacrifice the interests of truth to the interests of party, national, or religious, or political. His narrative may still be brilliant, attractive, picturesque; but the pictures which he paints will derive their coloring from the jaundiced eye of the artist himself, and will therefore bear no very faithful resemblance to the realities of life and fact."

Of the continuation we shall merely say that it has been written by an author who has been long and favorably known in literature; especially in connection with subjects relating to Catholicity. The publishers therefore feel confident, that Mr. Burke will be found to have written in strict accordance with the spirit which dictated the great work of the historian whose pages he has followed.

All for Jesus; or, the Easy Ways of Divine Love, by the Very Rev. FATHER FABER, Priest of the Oratory of St. Philip Neri.

This work will be issued early in January, in a style of neatness commensurate with its extraordinary merits. It has met with an unprecedented sale in England, as may be gathered from the following extract from the author's preface:

"A large edition of the book having been sold off in about a month from its first publication, I have taken considerable pains in preparing this second edition. . . . In again trusting my little work to the Catholics of England and Ireland, I wish I could say how much I have been affected by the reception it has met with, not as if it reflected credit on myself, but because it has shown that the name of Jesus could not be uttered without the echo coming, and that to speak of Him, however poorly, was to rouse, to soothe, and to win the heart; and it was more grateful to me than any praise, to feel that my subject was my success."

The London Rambler, in noticing this work, says:—"For our judgment, it is a book for all classes, for all minds, so that they be but ordinarily intelligent and devoutly disposed. For ourselves, we will freely say we have found it so enchanting, so satisfying, so full of thought, and so suggestive, that we lingered over what we read, and have sometimes been positively unable to turn to the next page from sheer reluctance to leave the solid and sumptuous feast set before us. This, again, is what others say; they devour for the sake of re-devouring what has already so fed and satisfied them. Every page seems to yield more than they can take in or profit by at a single reading."

The Primacy of The Apostolic See Vindicated. Fourth Revised Edition. By the Most Rev. Francis Patrick Kenrick, D. D. Archbishop of Baltimore.

In announcing this highly important work which is universally acknowledged the best vindication of the Primacy, and the most triumphant answer to the entire Protestant statement ever written in the English language: the publishers deem it sufficient to state, that three large editions have been sold in a few years, and that the fourth will be carefully revised, and enlarged.

The Devout Child of Mary, the Immaculate Mother of Jesus Christ. A Collection of Novenas preparatory to the Festivals of the Blessed Virgin; Meditations, Hymns, and method of hearing Mass in her honor, &c.

The missals and other liturgical publications of Mr. Hanicq, of Mechlin, have already acquired a world-wide reputation for accuracy, convenience and other qualities so desirable in works of this description. The Roman Missals, from his press, are in three different forms, folio, quarto, and duodecimo, and consequently adapted to altars of any dimensions, the last is particularly convenient for private reference. These missals may also be obtained in black letter, or in black and red. As to the accuracy of the editions, it will be sufficient to state, that they were prepared by learned rubricists, and have received the approbation of his Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop of Mechlin. The letter-press is in fine large characters, and ornamented with ten excellent engravings from the pencil of artists of the very highest merit. But the chief point of superiority is the convenient arrangement of the collects, gospels, &c., which cannot fail to win the approval of the Rev. Clergy. We will notice briefly the principal features in which this arrangement differs from that of other editions.

1.—The Proper of the Saints is perfectly complete up to the time of publication.

2.—All the Masses of double or semi-double feasts, which have peculiar to them the least thing more than the collect alone, are printed in full in the Proper of the Saints on the days on which they occur. When the secret and the post-communion are proper, it is very disagreeable for the priest to be obliged to turn over the leaves of his Missal three or four times in order to look in the Proper for the few lines of those two prayers separated by the communion which is common. All the Saints, of whom a commemoration is made on double or semi-double feasts, have likewise their three prayers printed in full. In fine, the prayers which are to be said during the octaves are found always in their proper places, or near them, so that it is never necessary to recur to the Common of the Saints or other parts.

3.—In all the other editions of the Missal published up to the present time there exists a very serious inconvenience for the celebrant, viz: the necessity of turning the page in the middle of an introit, gospel, or even of a collect, or post-communion, during the Masses which are sung. This inconvenience is more especially felt at the introits and gospels, when after having turned the leaf for the purpose of reading the end, it is necessary to turn it a second time on account of the beginning, and a third time, in order to go on with that which follows. The same may be said of certain parts of the canon. Mr. Hanicq is so far the only one who has completely avoided this inconvenience in his fine editions.

4.—The Proper of the Saints presents, in their respective places, the three prayers of every simple feast which has the least thing proper to it; but it was thought perfectly useless to crowd the Proper of the Saints with Masses of simple feasts, entirely belonging to the common.

5.—The proper prayers for the weeks of Advent are repeated in the Proper of the Saints at the beginning of December; so that the priest is not obliged, during those four weeks, to look every day for those prayers at the beginning of the Missal, with the risk of overturning it when moving it with the aid of the marks. The prayers peculiar to other times of the year are so located as to afford the greatest convenience to the celebrant.

6.—At the end of the Missal is found a very extensive supplement which includes a great number of Masses for different countries, diocesses and religious congregations. Amongst those Masses are particularly remarked those of the Society of Jesus, the Lazarists, &c., and that of the Immaculate Conception. Finally the two new Masses of St. Francis Hieronymo and the Blessed Peter Claver granted to the Society of Jesus have recently been added.

Improvements of the same kind have been introduced in the Mechlin editions of the Breviaries of every size, and in Diurnals in 8vo. in 32mo. and in 48mo. all printed in red and black, and the greater part on very strong hand-made paper.

The publishers desire to invest it with a character which will make it worthy of universal patronage; as an evidence of their intention in this respect, they have the pleasure to announce, that the work will be edited next year by one of the

MOST DISTINGUISHED CATHOLIC WRITERS
IN THE UNITED STATES,

Whose name, with other particulars in connection with our contemplated improvements, will be made known at the commencement of the volume. This announcement, together with the arrangements made with several of the most EMINENT CATHOLIC WRITERS IN THE COUNTRY, for regular contributions, and the

LIBERAL PREMIUMS OF $300,

Offered with the view of encouraging Catholic Literature, and the contemplated introduction of a larger number of FINE ILLUSTRATIONS in the forthcoming volume, they hope will meet with a liberal support and encouragement from the Catholics of the United States.

Heretofore they have not availed themselves of the numerous kind and flattering notices, so liberally extended by the Catholic Press in various sections of the country; preferring to let the work rest on its own merits. They select the following from the MONTREAL TRUE WITNESS, as embodying not only the spirit of other notices, but a recommendation, which they earnestly hope will be followed by the Rev. Clergy and Catholics generally throughout the United States and Canada:

"THE METROPOLITAN for December.—This sterling Catholic periodical is rapidly advancing in public favor, and has obtained for itself a prominent and honorable position amongst the periodicals of this Continent. We trust that it may soon have as large a circulation amongst our friends in Canada as it deserves. The extensive circulation of works like the Metropolitan amongst the people, is one of the best antidotes against the poison constantly infused into our moral system, by the villainous popular literature of the day. Every Catholic, therefore, should make it his duty to encourage the diffusion amongst his neighbors of good, wholesome, intellectual provender, such as is afforded at a cheap rate by our talented cotemporary."

The publishers, in expressing their grateful acknowledgments to the press and the Catholic public generally, for the liberal encouragement extended to this work, feel great pleasure in announcing the entire success of their enterprise in the permanent establishment of the Metropolitan. Its success has been quite equal to their most sanguine expectations, and their prospects for the forthcoming year are of the most cheering character.

They earnestly solicit the zealous co-operation of the friends of Catholic Literature throughout the United States and Canada, with the assurance that their best efforts will be exerted to render the work deserving the most liberal support that may be extended to it.

☞ Subscriptions for the next volume should be sent early in January.
